

VICE-PRESIDENT Dawes thinks we must go back to the convention system, on account of the evils which have developed in the primary system.

The Vice-President (as has happened before) is a bit premature. The evils which he finds in the primary are, to be sure, only too real. But they are all evils which existed in even greater degree under the old convention system, and they would not be cured by going back to it. If we need any change, it should be forward, not backward.

IN FACT, even if we were going back to the old system, it would be necessary to do something else first, without which neither the convention nor the primary will ever work satisfactorily. That is, to shorten the ballot. And when that is done, we may find nothing else necessary.

NO SYSTEM of government by the people can be a permanent success if it puts on the people responsibilities which they can not meet. Our present ballot, certainly does that. Try it on yourself. Can you vote this year's ballot intelligently? If not you, why should your neighbor? Or his neighbor? Or the whole people? And why should your ballot have oil in the parts which you do not know what to do with when you find them there?

EXAMINE your ballot! On it, besides candidates for Governor, Senator, Congressman and member of the Legislature, on all of which you have or should have, what you regard as an intelligent opinion, are candidates for a host of other offices, most of which you know nothing about, and care as little. Among them are candidates and inter-candidates for judicial offices, so complicated that you would have to be qualified to be Supreme Justice yourself to make out which is which. Half the people will not vote on these offices. Most of the other half will vote blind, or take somebody's advice.

It is not "government by the people" to go through the empty form of voting on that large part of the ballot on which there is no public opinion or preference. Better confine the ballot to those officers that we do know and care about. You know whom you want as Governor. Do you not think he can find for you, better than you are likely to do yourself, the sort of man you want for Surveyor-General?

THE "measures" on the ballot are still worse. If you elect the wrong man to office, he will at least fill it somehow. The wrong measure might smash things entirely, or defeat the very purpose you thought you were promoting.

There are twenty-eight state measures on this year's ballot, plus varying local ones. In San Francisco the total is thirty-nine. How many of these can you vote on intelligently? Probably precisely the nine that were put there by initiative or referendum petitions, plus the bond issues which would be submitted under any system. Most of the others, which are the product, not of the modern initiative and referendum, but of our out-of-date state constitution, would require more study than you will give, and are not worth that study, by the whole people. It is not "government by the people" to submit such matters to them.

THE remedy for the too many names is the short ballot. Let the people elect the determining officials—President, Congress, Governor, Legislature, Mayor, Councilman or Commissioners, Supervisors. These are the ones that determine everything else. They are the only ones we have ever elected in the national government. We have never thought it necessary to elect the United States Treasurer, or the Chief of Geological Survey. Why should we go through the empty form of pretending to elect the corresponding state or local officers?

The remedy for the too many measures is the short constitution. If our state constitution were as simple as the United States constitution, plus the initiative and referendum, that fact alone would cut out most of the measures on our biennial ballot, and leave only those on which we can vote intelligently, and about which we care.

In fact, the whole remedy is to apply to our state and local governments the system which has worked well for a century and a half in our national government. And when we have done that, the question whether we continue the direct primary or go back to the convention system will scarcely be important enough to worry about. Either system will work under the short ballot and the short constitution. Neither will work under the present impossible long ballot.

DENIES SCHEME FOR MAIL ORDER MERGER

CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—Silas H. Strawn, chairman of the board of directors of Montgomery Ward and Company, today flatly denied that a merger of his company with Sears, Roebuck and Company had even been contemplated.

"As far as I know, no such action has been contemplated," Strawn told the United Press.

"And I know that the matter has never been before the board of directors," he added.

Despite Strawn's statement, stock in the two concerns continued to sell at more than two points higher than yesterday's closing price.

Quiet California Election Predicted

BATTLES FOR STATE JOBS ARE SETTLED

Primary Virtually Decides Races and Balloting in November Is Tame Affair

EXPECT MILLION VOTES

Little More Than Half of Registrants Expected to Go to Polls Next Week

(By United Press)

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 26.—A week from today, California's army of a million voters, the greatest in the history of the Golden State, will go to the polls to cast their votes for congressional, state and county officers.

Although the total registration in the state is close to two million, it is expected by Charles J. Hagerly, state election statistician, that the total vote cast will be approximately a million.

There will be no whirlwind finish to the various campaigns, as compared with the primary election. The present week of speech-making by various candidates will come to a rather quiet finish.

Little Doubt on Outcome

California's general election is usually a rather tame affair, as the primary virtually settles the battles for governor, lieutenant governor, U. S. senator and major offices. With the exception of local county contests, and the important referendum measures, there is little doubt as to the outcome.

Selection of C. C. Young, Republican nominee for governor, and all other party candidates is conceded by all political leaders, except a few militant Democrats, who refuse to recognize the 3-to-1 margin against them, as indicated by the registration tables.

The probable majorities of Young, Senator Samuel M. Shortridge and Burton R. Fitts, Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, it is declared, will be in the neighborhood of from 200,000 to 300,000 votes, over their opponents in the Democratic ranks, Justus Wardell for governor, John B. Elliott for senator, and Charles O. Dunbar for lieutenant governor.

Young in San Joaquin

Beginning today at Dinuba, Lieutenant Governor Young will conduct a series of meetings in the San Joaquin valley, returning to San Francisco to speak Friday. He will end his campaign in Sacramento, Saturday.

Justus Wardell, Democratic gubernatorial candidate, and former Senator James D. Phelan, one of the most powerful Bourbon leaders in the state, are team mates in the campaign, working independently of Democratic candidate for Senator, John B. Elliott, Wardell and Phelan will speak in Sacramento tonight.

They will be heard at the Palace hotel, in San Francisco, Wednesday, at the Dreamland rink, Thursday, and at a Wardell luncheon, Friday, at the Palace hotel.

Senator Shortridge, whose campaign is paralleling that of C. C. Young, has gone south for a series of meetings in Bakersfield and Kern and Tulare county points.

Republicans for Congress

According to political oracles at the state capitol, the Republican candidates are holding a big edge in the four congressional districts where contests are slated, election being conceded to the following:

Fourth district, Mrs. Florence P. Kahn, San Francisco; eighth district, Arthur Monroe Free, San Jose; ninth district, W. E. Evans, Glendale; 10th district, Joe Crail, Los Angeles.

DEMOCRATIC CHANCES ARE ON INCREASE

Political Situation Tends Toward Shift in Illinois, Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana

RACES BELIEVED CLOSE

G. O. P. Has No Cinch, Is Tone of Impartial Information Reaching Capital

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 26.—Democrats have a fighting chance in every one of the central states of Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana and Illinois.

Impartial information reaching Washington political leaders indicates that the Republican congressional representation, now in control of these districts, has no secure in the election a week from today.

Barometers in Kentucky are showing high Democratic pressure; the Indiana situation has been turned topsy turvy by the uproar there over the Ku Klux Klan influences; the entrance of an independent with money in the Illinois senatorial race has made it anybody's race, and the Ohio contest is close, according to these reports.

G.O.P. Holds Many Seats

And these close situations prevail in an area where five Republicans senators and 45 Republican representatives are seeking re-election, while not a single Democratic senator seat and only 22 house chairs are at stake.

It is another case—just as in the north Atlantic states—where Democrats have everything to gain and nothing to lose.

Here is the situation by states:

Ohio—Atlee Pomerene, Democratic senatorial nominee, with fresh prestige from his victories as special oil counsel in the Teapot Dome case, is running on a ticket with Gov. Vic Donahay, twice elected Democratic governor, when all the rest of the state went Republican. Pomerene's campaign has been quiet, but he is reported to have gained support of labor, the loss of which caused his defeat two years ago. Senator Willis, Republican incumbent, is waging an active campaign, using his advantage as an orator. He is considered a slight favorite to win. Pomerene is a wet and Willis a dry, but neither has talked much about prohibition in the campaign.

There are independent Republicans seeking re-election and all save two have opposition. Three Republican seats are highly in doubt. Six Democratic seats are at stake and two are in doubt.

SITUATION IN KENTUCKY

Kentucky—A. W. Barkley, Democratic senatorial nominee, is given at least an even chance to defeat Senator Ernest, Republican incumbent, in a state which has two Republican senators, but a Democratic house delegation by a majority of 8 to 3 and a Democratic governor. Kentucky has been considered a Democratic state until the last four years, and Barkley's popularity with the railroad brotherhood and labor has increased his chances. Both are politically dry.

Republicans hope they may be able to gain one Democratic house seat, but little general change is expected in the Kentucky house delegation.

Indiana—Until two weeks ago, it looked like a certainty that Senators Jim Watson and Arthur Robinson, Republicans, would be returned without a serious contest. Since that time, the Reed investigating committee has gone into charges that the Klan exercised influence over elections.

The Democratic senatorial candidates are highly regarded—Evans Woolen, Indianapolis banker, running against Robinson, and Albert Stump, young attorney, pitted against Watson. It is impossible to tell what influence, if any, recent developments will have upon the voting, but Republicans here concede the two Democrats a good fighting chance.

Little change is expected in the house lineup of 10 Republicans and three Democrats.

DEMOCRATIC CHANCE IN ILLINOIS

This state has been considered normally Republican, but there are two Republicans pitted against one Democrat in the senatorial race, thus increasing the chance of the Democrats.

Hugh Magill, of Chicago, entered the race as an independent Republican and has gained sufficient strength to wage a serious conflict against the two primary nominees, Frank L. Smith, Republican, and George Brennan, Democrat.

Expect Witness to Refute Story Preacher Was Not In Exhausted Condition

(By United Press)

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 26.—Miss Julia Attaway, night nurse at the Calumet hospital, Douglas, Ariz., was subpoenaed by the defense today in the hearing of Almee Semple McPherson, on charges of perpetrating a kidnaping hoax.

Miss Attaway is to be called to testify that Mrs. McPherson was in an exhausted and semi-hysterical condition after her dramatic night flight across the Sonora desert, following a self-described escape from kidnappers.

Her testimony is expected to refute the story contention that the evangelist was not footloose and body-weary, as claimed, after a 20-mile hike across the Sonora sagebrush and cactus country.

Leaves for Los Angeles

Miss Attaway has already left Los Angeles for Los Angeles, Defense Attorney W. J. Gilbert announced during today's proceedings of the preliminary examination of Mrs. McPherson and her mother and co-defendant, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy.

The monotonous testimony of O. E. Ash, Douglas police officer, occupied most of the forenoon session. Ash testified he traced Mrs. McPherson's footprints a mile further than any other investigator and that the results of his investigation were ignored by Los Angeles authorities, who went to Douglas to check on the evangelist's story of her reappearance.

EXPERT IN HANDWRITING IS CALLED TO WITNESS STAND IN GOODWIN MURDER TRIAL

The state's attempt to confound Philip A. Goodwin with his own handwriting, at his trial for the alleged murder of Joseph J. Patterson, commenced in earnest today when Milton Carlson, Los Angeles handwriting expert, was called to the witness stand to prove alleged forgeries by the priest.

These forgeries, if proved, will show the motive for the murder of Patterson and will also, that Goodwin attempted to conceal the slaying of the bond broker, the prosecution contends.

Carlson, called as a witness just before the noon recess, was expected to be on the stand the balance of the day. His testimony opened with the exhibit of enlarged photographic copies of signatures upon oil stock certificates. These certificates, the state alleges, belonged to Patterson, and were sold by Goodwin two days after Patterson's murder. The state expects to prove, by Carlson, that Goodwin forged endorsements upon the certificates supposed to have been made by Patterson. The certificates constitute a part of the motive for the crime, according to the prosecution.

Link in Typewritten Letter
Another link in the chain of circumstances pointing to Goodwin's guilt, that Carlson is expected to weld for the state, is in connection with a typewritten letter received from Tia Juana by E. G. Rockett, at Patterson's rooming house, in Los Angeles.

The letter was received, it is said, a few days after Patterson's disappearance. In it, Patterson purported to reassure Rockett regarding his whereabouts. The letter stated that Patterson was spending a few days in Tia Juana, whereas Patterson's murdered body was then lying in Santa Ana canyon, it is claimed.

Carlson was expected to testify today that the letter was written upon the same typewriter that was used in making the Patterson indentures upon the stock certificates alleged to have been sold by Goodwin. The state hopes thus to link Goodwin both to the Tia Juana letter and to the stock certificate forger.

Disappearance Questioned
Today's court proceedings, which opened with the cross-examination of E. G. Rockett, one of yesterday's witnesses, found the atmosphere somewhat more strained than heretofore, with opposing counsel inclined to snap at each other frequently. The defense was particularly critical and Attorney Kitt Gould was overruled once or twice for arguing with a witness.

Milton Carlson, Los Angeles handwriting authority, was on the witness stand today at the Philip A. Goodwin murder trial. Carlson's testimony was viewed by the state as one of its strongest trump cards in supplying Goodwin with a motive for killing Joseph J. Patterson.

the jury the invisible stripe, and Rockett compiled. Rockett and the jurors were compelled to scrutinize the cloth closely to see the stripe.

Few Feet Away

"How far were you away from Patterson when you saw him wearing that suit?" demanded Gould next. Rockett said he had been a few feet away.

"Could you see the stripe that far?" queried Gould.

"Yes."

"Then," demanded Gould, "why do you have to get so close to it today to see it? Is your eyesight failing?"

District Attorney A. P. Nelson objected and was sustained by the court, on the ground that the question was argumentative.

Carlson had been identifying cloth found upon the murdered body as part of a suit he had seen Joseph Patterson wearing a few weeks before his disappearance.

"When was that?" Gould asked.
"You know when he disappeared," answered the witness.

"No I don't. I don't think he ever disappeared," retorted the attorney.

Gould grilled Rockett on the witness statement that he remembered Patterson wearing a double-breasted blue suit, with a diagonal pattern and invisible stripe, last February or March. Gould seemed to think the witness had too good a memory.

He demanded that Rockett show

Jots Dealt Defense
Several severe jolts were handed the defense by prosecution witnesses yesterday afternoon. One of them enabled the state to definitely link Goodwin and Patterson together on the San Diego trip that is alleged to have culminated in Patterson's murder. Another blow pictured the priest disposing of Patterson's oil stock, two days after the alleged murder.

Mrs. Ruth Roberts, cigar stand clerk in the Hotel Knickerbocker, San Diego, supplied the first bit of sensation when she testified that, on March 14, the day before the alleged murder, she saw three men shaking dice at her counter. She took particular notice of them, she said, because one was dressed in the garb of a priest and she thought it odd for a priest to be shaking dice. She identified Goodwin as the priest, and described the appearance of his two companions.

Then Gaines stood up in the courtroom and she identified him as one of two men with the priest.

Dramatic Moment in Trial
A dramatic moment came when Chief Deputy District Attorney C. N. Mozley asked R. B. Patterson, brother of the slain Joseph J. Patterson, to stand up.

"Did the third man look like this man?" Mozley asked Mrs. Roberts. The girl studied Patterson carefully for a moment.

"Very much," she finally replied. "He was about the same build, had much the same features and the same complexion."

"Is that the man?" Defense Counsel Kitt Gould shot at the witness suddenly. But the girl shook her head.

"No, that isn't the man," she answered. "But there is a strong resemblance."

Other witnesses, who knew Patterson in life, and those who saw his body after it was found in Santa Ana canyon, on March 13, have testified to the marked likeness between the brothers.

The defense cross-examined Mrs. Roberts sharply, as to what kind of a priest she took Goodwin to be. She said she had thought him a Roman Catholic priest because he "wore his collar backwards."

At this point there was a laugh in the courtroom, quickly hushed by Ballif Harry Carter, who frowns upon any kind of disorder in court.

Accused Dictates Quizzing
Goodwin, who is an American Catholic priest, as distinguished from the Roman, seemed to be dictating the cross-examination of the witness. Through his counsel, he asked whether the girl had ever seen him before March 14. She could not remember having seen him. Then he wanted to know if she was acquainted with members of the Savoy Stock company, theatrical company staying at the hotel. She said she was. Had she ever seen him with members of the company? She had not, she said.

The device fits all cars and can be installed in five minutes. Mr. Stransky wants agents and is willing to send a sample at his risk. Write him today.—Adv.

Harry L. Jones, Los Angeles investment broker, and F. H. Partridge, of the Citizens' Trust and Savings bank, Los Angeles, combined to give testimony that Goodwin, on March 17, had sold oil stock certificates that bore the name Joseph J. Patterson. Partridge and Jones had negotiated the sale, as agents. Jones said he paid "Father" Goodwin two checks, one for $250 and another for $169, for the stock. Partridge added the information that "Father Goodwin" told him the money was to be used for paying the priests' expenses to New York, where he intended to stage a play, to raise funds for building a new church. The first check of $250, Partridge said, the priest told him, was to provide bail for a friend of the priest who had been arrested for a traffic offense. The friend's name was Ed Cramer.

On cross-examination, Gould secured the admission of Partridge that the witness himself had informed Goodwin of Cramer's arrest.

Gives Name of Cramer

Ed Cramer was the name given by Goodwin himself when arrested in Orange county by Motorcycle Officer Walter Meyer, as Goodwin, with two men believed to be Gaines and Patterson, enroute to San Diego, on March 18, according to the officer's testimony.

Signatures of Goodwin upon Los Angeles bank statements, the stock certificates and checks, were identified by Partridge, E. D. Hill, of the Hellman bank, and J. E. Murphy, manager of a branch of the Pacific-Souwest Trust and Savings bank, in Los Angeles.

Testimony corroborating that of Mrs. Roberts, the cigar stand girl, was given by W. S. Halligan, San Diego garage employee, who testified that Goodwin and two men, one of whom resembled R. B. Patterson, had stopped at his garage in San Diego, March 14.

Sheriff Sam Jernigan was on the stand yesterday, testifying to the conditions found at the scene of the alleged crime, when the body of Patterson was picked up.

Gaines Takes Stand

Albert Gaines, Goodwin's co-defendant, came to the stand late yesterday afternoon, but stayed briefly, and gave none of his heralded confession testimony.

The prosecution, it was hinted, were playing a bit of strategy with Gaines, getting him accustomed to the crowd and the court before they call on him for his story of the alleged killing of Patterson.

Yesterday he identified the handwriting of Goodwin in a letter that he said to have received from the priest while in hiding after the murder. The letter came to Gaines in Denver.

Much of the time yesterday was occupied with reading the accumulated exhibits into the records.

TRIAL SIDELIGHTS

The Rev. Goodwin today admitted that he was the G. Allison Phillips who played the part of Edward Wales in "The Thirteenth Chair," presented last fall by the Alhambra-San Gabriel Community players. Another "13" was in the Goodwin case, and it was a murder drama, too.

The "13" incidents continue to pile up at the trial. Yesterday afternoon, the prosecution introduced, as an exhibit, an oil stock certificate numbered 39,713, with the accent on the last two numbers.

And an inquisitive reporter discovered that there are 13 letters in the name of Albert D. Gaines, star prosecution witness, just as there are 13 letters in the name of the defendant, Philip Goodwin.

There was a rumor in the courtroom today that Gaines, who was there, waiting to be called to the witness stand, was afraid to look at Goodwin, his co-defendant. Gaines, it was whispered, feared that the priest would hypnotize him.

All this led to interesting speculation as to what kind of a witness Gaines might make, if hypnotized. "A witness who was hypnotized," observed one theorist, "might go so far as to even tell his true name."

The trial, so far, has been marked by the smoothest harmony between prosecution and defense, with rare exceptions. There has been no jangling and only one or two tart exchanges, such as one that occurred yesterday, when Defense Counsel Gould inquired sarcastically whether Chief Deputy District Attorney C. N. Mozley was trying to testify, instead of allowing the witness to do it. If Mozley was going to testify, Gould wanted him to be sworn, he said. Mozley replied with an eloquent look, but said nothing.

The defense cross-examined Mrs. Roberts sharply, as to what kind of a priest she took Goodwin to be. She said she had thought him a Roman Catholic priest because he "wore his collar backwards."

At this point there was a laugh in the courtroom, quickly hushed by Ballif Harry Carter, who frowns upon any kind of disorder in court.

BEACH WOMAN IS SERIOUSLY HURT IN CRASH

Mrs. Lillian Differding, wife of Charles A. Differding, 915 Cherry avenue, Long Beach, was badly cut and bruised at 2:15 p.m. yesterday, when the automobile, in which she was riding with her husband, collided with another car on a detour near Costa Mesa.

She was taken to her home, suffering from a bruised arm and shoulder and her head badly cut.

According to a report filed at the sheriff's office, Differding charged the driver of the other machine, whose name he did not obtain, with speeding across an intersection.

No one was injured when the automobile driven by Andrew Peterson, Costa Mesa, collided with another machine at Seventeenth street and Orange avenue, Costa Mesa, yesterday afternoon. The two cars collided at the intersection.

The law as amended is not new.

It merely brings the old law on oleomargarine down to date—30 years is a long time for a law to go along without revision when the industry has changed materially.

Aside from the 2-cent tax for enforcement, the main point in the change is that oleomargarine must be sold as such. It looks like lard and must not be advertised as appearing like butter. As a newspaper publisher, you are deeply concerned in truth in advertising.

Therefore you know the merits of that phase of the law.

We know of no cocoanut groves
in California, but there is investment about $250,000,000 in the dairy industry in this state. The labor payroll is more than $40,000,000 annually. The dairy dollar does not take a long eastern trip, but stays in California.

There is nothing in the law to prevent the making or selling of Nucos, Morola or other oleomargarine products, as such. The 2-cent tax sees to the latter. And in states where there is a heavy oleomargarine tax, as in Pennsylvania, the price is no higher to the consumer than in adjoining states where there is no such tax.

Thanking you for your unprejudiced manner of presenting the matter, we are,

Sincerely yours,

EXCELSIOR CREAMERY CO.

Faces Jail Term
For Failure To Appear In Court

Last June, E. E. Osborne, Olivaman, could have paid a $10 fine
in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court and no more would have been said about his alleged speeding 28 miles an hour in a 15-mile zone.

But today it's different.

Osborne was arrested yesterday,
in the Olive hotel, by Jimmy Cain,
state officer, and charged with failure to appear in answer to the ticket given him in June. Soon after he received the ticket, a letter from Justice Morrison informed him that $10 would pay the fine.

Now Osborne not only will have to pay the fine, but faces a long jail sentence for failure to appear in court at the time he was so ordered.

Preston, Justice Candidate, In S. A.

John W. Preston, of San Francisco, candidate for associate justice of the California supreme court was in the city today in the interest of his candidacy. The candidate is a close personal friend of C. C.
Young, Republican nominee for governor, the two men having started their political careers together
as members of the assembly in 1908. Preston has been practicing law for 36 years, including six years as U. S. attorney and assistant attorney general of the United States.

No arrests were made.

Clare was taken to the office of a Santa Ana physician, where he was given first aid treatment. He later was removed to his home.

According to a report of the accidental, which occurred on the state highway, south of Tustin, Clare drove his car into the trailer after he had been blinded in a heavy fog and when his car skidded on the wet pavement.

Beautify Your Lawn

Now is the time to do it!

Get a Bermuda rake and get busy. After the lawn is thoroughly raked — a few pounds of Blue Grass and White Clover seed will make a new lawn out of it.

The judicious application of a few sacks of "Grozit" Pulverized Sheep Manure or Dried Blood will do a great deal to restore an old lawn to its natural beauty. Clover and blue grass, planted now, has a chance to get started growing for about four months before the bermuda will make any further growth. DO IT NOW.

We have some dandy Bermuda cutter rakes, a fine quality of grass seed; and we surely sell lots of lawn fertilizers.

Officer Tackles Grid Player Who Failed to Appear

Fred A. Hilker, 16, 701 South Ford street, Los Angeles, one of the crack football players for the Garfield high school, learned more about tackling yesterday afternoon than ever before.

He was tackled by Jimmy Smith, state officer, for failure to appear in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court on a speeding charge. The fact that he was on the football field at the time, and in his football uniform, didn't help his cause at all.

When brought before Justice Morrison today, the case was transferred to the juvenile court.

Hilker originally was charged with speeding 49 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone.

An earnest protest against incorporation, voiced by P. H. Krick, developed a heated debate between Krick and friends of the movement, led by Thomas Pickrell, secretary of the Placentia Chamber of Commerce.

Pickrell reviewed the advantages that he claimed incorporation would bring, while Krick was inclined to the view that the city already had any advantages that it would have if incorporated. Krick also objected to the wording of the petition on technical grounds.

Supervisor William Schumacher finally broke into the debate with a motion that the petition be accepted and the election date fixed.

Attorneys Head, Rutan and Sco-vel represented the petitioners.

Party Celebrates Two Happy Anniversaries

The twentieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Martin and the fifty-eighth birthday of Mr. F. W. Gohres offered occasion for a party of friends to gather at the home of the latter on 1900 South Ross street last week and honor them jointly.

Cards were the principal diversion for the evening and prizes went to Mrs. Martin, high; Mr. Martin, consolation, and Mr. Paul Norman, door prize.

While the guests were congratulating the recipients of many beautiful gifts and prizes, tables were being laid for refreshments of pumpkin pie with whipped cream, and coffee.

The decorations were in true Hallowe'en style with cats and witches aplenty and orange and black carnival caps which were donned by the guests early in the evening.

Attending the party were Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Gohres, Miss Beulah Duseon, Miss Nettie Jones, little Miss Evelyn Martin, the Misses Bernice and Willabelle Gohres, Messrs. Charles Gilker, Barney Brock, Paul Norman and Hubert Gohres.

Miss Tiede Returns To Washington

Her many friends in this city, were regretting today that Miss Anna Tiede today brought to a close her four weeks' visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Tiede, 618 South Main street, and departed for her home and duties in Washington, D. C.

Miss Tiede devotes all of her time on her occasional visits to Santa Ana, to her parents and home so that even her closer friends are scarcely aware of her presence until she has flitted again. She has been in Washington for the past seven years and holds a responsible position as assistant to Jefferson Myers, commissioner from the northwest on the U. S. shipping board.

GIRL CONCOCTS POISON POTION AND ENDS LIFE

Mary Ester Rutherford, 15, daughter of John Rutherford, Edward avenue, Lansdowne, near Buena Park, committed suicide yesterday afternoon, while alone in her home, by drinking a concoction of ant poison and iodine, according to a report filed with Coroner Charles D. Brown.

No cause for the desire of the girl to take her own life was intimated by the coroner. A note, addressed to the family, merely stated that she was going away and said that her younger sister be given a good education, Brown said.

Sister Finds Body

It was the younger sister, Modine Rutherford, 9, who, with a girl friend, Velma Keller, 12, found the body. The two girls returned from school yesterday afternoon and found the front and back doors of the Rutherford home locked. They crawled through a window and discovered the body of Mary Ester, lying on the kitchen floor. Mrs. E. S. Fury, a neighbor, was notified and she called a physician. The girl had been dead for approximately two hours, it was said.

Four bottles were found on the kitchen sink, near the body. Two of the bottles were said to have contained iodine and the other two, ant powder. A tablespoon, containing some of the dried poison mixture, indicated how the girl took her life. Coroner Brown said.

The girl's parents were not at home yesterday. Mary Ester had complained of a headache and did not go to school. She was left at home alone.

Inquest into the death will be held at 4:30 p.m., today, in the McAuley Funeral parlor, Fullerton, where the body was taken.

Romance Is Crowned
By Nuptials in Northern City

One hearing Aline Barrett Greenwood at Ebell club yesterday afternoon in her self-styled "running commentaries" on conditions of today in the world of politics, international affairs, religion, drama and literature, would find it difficult indeed to transcribe her talk and present it to another. For the vibrant, compelling personality of Miss Greenwood would be lost, and the effect would be quite as lifeless as the modern invention which reproduces both voice and action, but in which the personal contact is missing.

This invention by the way, was one of the countless numbers of things touched upon in Miss Greenwood's all-too brief hour on the Ebell platform.

She was an amazing woman, Aline Barrett Greenwood. It is said that chameleons take on the color of any object upon which they are placed. Miss Greenwood gave color to the things which she discussed. To hear her, was to find a new interest in the things one knows, and an avid curiosity regarding those things unknown.

She opened her talk with pertinent comment on the present political situation and a glimpse of President Coolidge and his deep inscrutability. Continuing to the present Mexican situation, she voiced a plea to keep religion out of politics at the forthcoming presidential nomination. As for the Mexican problem itself, she stated emphatically that we have reached an impasse, that we have no vestige of a policy and that she has heard of no solution.

From Mexican and political situations, she turned to present day attitudes towards things which a generation or even a decade ago, were taboo, asserting that it was amazing the rapidity with which values are changed. In support of this, she offered the course in euthenics now adopted at Vassar college and the fact that Margaret Sanger's teachings were accepted there where a few years ago, Margaret Sanger and her views were considered beyond the pale. Rapidly she cited present day books and drama.

The plays of a year ago were very heavy, she asserted, and such playwrights as O'Neill were to the fore. Today we clamor for lightness in our drama, as witness the productions that are good attractions from the boxoffice standpoint. "Michael Arlen puts his heroines in chiffon—Eugene O'Neill puts his in red flannel" she said concisely, concluding that the world today prefers chiffon.

Regarding Arlen, Miss Greenwood declared him to be possessed of cleverness and keenness of intellect, but dull of spirit, and possessing no capacity for fine discrimination. His literary works, like those of Noel Coward the playwright, are wrong because they are out of key. "He takes a small set, that of the Prince of Wales, perhaps, and writes about them delightfully and entertainingly, and as though they comprised the whole world. Yet they are a very small part of it, and thus set a false standard for the rest."

She cited Guy De Maupassant, Tolstoy, Dostoevsky and other classicists as being great because they really were in key. They might write of dreadful conditions, but those conditions could exist generally instead of being confined to one small class.

From a discussion of modern plays that might well adapted for radio or for cinema and others that might be for both, she entered upon a discussion of the three important plays from the pen of Sean O'Casey, new Irish playwright and poet who has leapt into celebrity. She suggested these as excellent for dramatic society study, "The Plow and the Stars," "Shadow of a Gun-Man" and "June and the Paycock."

Recent changes in the English language; the fame of the three Powys brothers; that "very astonishing person," H. L. Mencken; such recent books as Edna Ferber's "Show Boat," Dreiser's "American Tragedy," and Spangler's "Decline of the West," and progress of the world in culture were some of the themes touched upon by this amazing person, who took issue with the writer who declared there would never be another so great as Goethe or Shakespeare, by declaring that she felt that there was ample opportunity for the world to produce others as great.

Ending with a plea to her hearers to get the best from their lives and surroundings, she brought her talk to a close, to be greeted by the enthusiastic applause of the three important plays from the pen of Sean O'Casey, new Irish playwright and poet who has leapt into celebrity. She suggested these as excellent for dramatic society study, "The Plow and the Stars," "Shadow of a Gun-Man" and "June and the Paycock."

By the enthusiastic applause of the group of women who had experienced one of the most refreshing and delightful talks of the year.

The program was followed by a friendly interval in the peacock room where tea was served and Ebell members given the opportunity to meet Miss Greenwood personally.

Bridge Party Hostess
Reveals Engagement
To Her Guests

A wedding which will interest scores of local friends, took place yesterday in San Francisco, when Mrs. Mattie B. Fross of 208 South Sycamore street, became the bride of Samuel E. Tingley of Tustin, at a very quiet ceremony.

There is a pretty little romance connected with the marriage, a romance in which the part of Dan Cupid was played by two daughters, Mrs. Thomas Willits of this city, daughter of Mrs. Fross, and Mr. Tingley's daughter, Mrs. Lee Bird of Tustin. Mrs. Willits, (Cecil Fross' wife) is director of the choir at Tustin Presbyterian church, and both Mr. Tingley and Mrs. Bird are members of the choir.

Mrs. Jones and her mother, Mrs. E. Jones, arranged the tables with attractive linens for serving, and centered each table with a crystal candlestick holding an orange candle adorned with a fluffy bulb, also orange. Amusing little witch hats covered the nut cups, and when the guests lifted them the secret which Miss Jones had "kept under her hat," was disclosed, for a tiny scroll secreted with the nuts and candies, bore her name coupled with Mr. McFadden's and the date of October 30. Refreshments of ices, coffee and cake in appropriate colors, were enjoyed to the accompaniment of friendly congratulations and good wishes.

Miss Jones is a graduate of Polytechnic High school with the class of 1924 and has been employed at the Nash Outfitting company. Her fiance is also a Santa Ana high school graduate, of the class of 1922. He is with the Richland Oil company. The young people are not revealing any of their plans beyond the wedding day of Saturday. The friends to whom the bride-elect disclosed the news of the approaching nuptials, were the Misses Jean Ross, Louise Bryant, Vera Belle Bryant, Dorothy Marsh, Melvina Frye, Daisy Anderson, Henretta Lykke, Blanche Yokum, Anita Jerome, Mrs. William Noble, (Marian Preston), Mrs. Verne Williams, (Katherine Packard), and Mrs. Frank Preston.

Hallowe'en Plans at Nearby Clubs

Santa Ana Country Club
With cornstalks and pumpkins hiding the walls the Santa Ana Country club will be transformed into a barn Friday night when a hard time dance in honor of All Hallowe'en eve will be held. Present at the dance will be witches, peeping from dark corners, black cats and bats flitting from one hiding place to another, and ghosts which it is hoped, will maintain a discreet invisibility which is the proper attitude for ghosts. Most important of all will be the many revelers to enjoy the dinner and dance of what promises to be one of the happiest affairs of the season at the clubhouse.

The rooms were adorned with black cats, bats, witches and red and black brownies with cunning faces, and autumn flowers were placed in prominent places.

Masters Jack Murphy and Harry Ashen in clown costume, placed before the honoree a basket in the shape of a pumpkin, and this overflowed with all sorts of kitchen utensils to assist the bride in preparing the meals. The gifts were all accompanied with loving sentiments and good wishes for future happiness for the bride and groom.

Nine tables were provided for the playing of hearts, the pretty trophies going to Miss Rose Elfer and Mrs. Al Merritt.

Refreshments of brick ice cream in Hallowe'en colors, small cakes with grinning faces and coffee were served on the small tables, the nut cups in red and black holding tiny candies.

Miss Lieberman has invited Capistrano Institute to attend the wedding in a body. The marriage will be solemnized with a nuptial mass at St. Joseph's church at 8:30 a.m. tomorrow.

By the enthusiastic applause of the group of women who had experienced one of the most refreshing and delightful talks of the year.

The program was followed by a friendly interval in the peacock room where tea was served and Ebell members given the opportunity to meet Miss Greenwood personally.

Evening Bridge Party
Honors Birthday of
To Her Guests

Hallowe'en with its gayety and color, gave Miss Aletha Jones a delightful motif for the bridge party with which she last night announced her betrothal to John McFadden and the early date of Saturday, October 30, when the wedding is to take place.

The Jones home at 719 West First street, was gay with marigolds, chrysanthemums and zinnias in deep shades of orange, and the guests found small tables awaiting them for an evening of bridge. Attractive prizes were given, Mrs. Verne Williams, scoring high, receiving a pretty hand-made silk flower for coat or fur and Miss Jean Ross with second high score, a pretty crepe de chine handkerchief.

Mrs. Jones and her mother, Mrs. E. Jones, arranged the tables with attractive linens for serving, and centered each table with a crystal candlestick holding an orange candle adorned with a fluffy bulb, also orange. Amusing little witch hats covered the nut cups, and when the guests lifted them the secret which Miss Jones had "kept under her hat," was disclosed, for a tiny scroll secreted with the nuts and candies, bore her name coupled with Mr. McFadden's and the date of October 30. Refreshments of ices, coffee and cake in appropriate colors, were enjoyed to the accompaniment of friendly congratulations and good wishes.

With cards and their appointments removed from the tables, and pretty linens arranged, a two-course supper was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Beckman.

Class Parties Are
Pleasant Affairs

Star Class
A Hallowe'en party was enjoyed by the members and guests of the girls' Star class at the home of their teacher, Mrs. James Hughes, last Saturday night. The girls were greeted by the hostess and ushered into rooms weirdly lighted and decorated for the walking of ghosts and goblins.

During the evening many different games were played and Mr. Hughes was called upon to tell a ghost story which offered spells of awed delight, to the hearers.

Those present were Maximine, Frances Wickersheim, Lu Ellen Talley, Crystal Talley, Thelma Glasscock, LeLoise Johnson, Helen Hell, Agnes Steward, Eleanor Lorraine Simmons, Ruth DuBois, Muriel Samuelson, Evelyn Crawford, Mae Gifford, Mary Ann Cummings, Mary Jane Brunner, Evelyn Thomason, Eleanor Randall. The girls received a great deal of pleasure from their young guest, the four year old niece of Lu Ellen and Crystal Talley, little Katherine Hambright.

Friendly Circle
Friendly Circle members of the First M. E. Sunday school, to the number of 70, assembled at the church late last week to enjoy a bountiful supper served in the diningroom. Later they gathered in the church parlors to share a program to which Miss Geneva Hartung contributed a reading and A. J. Lasby related a story of a Polish wedding.

The remainder of the evening was devoted to a discussion of the various amendments and the right way to vote at the fall election.

Vendors will be a feature of the dinner. Joe Martin and his orchestra will furnish the music, and those who remember their peppy programs of dance music, know what that means for the dancers.

Court Whist Evening
Is Party Program
For B. and P. W.

Court whist offered lively entertainment last night to Business and Professional Women who enjoyed the first card party of their club history in the dance studio of Mabel Rockwell, as planned by the October program committee composed of Cecyl Drake, Helen Gallagher, Nancy Elder and Mabel Larrick.

Mrs. Rockwell, one of the club members, placed her entire studio at the disposal of the committee who arranged the main room with various Hallowe'en decorations, including a number of great pumpkin jack-o'-lanterns. As soon as the Monday night dancing class was gone, card tables were placed in position and decked with pretty embroidered covers. Witches and black cats adorned the court whilst cards and each pencil bore a feathered orange crown.

While the majority of the guests played cards, the few who didn't, enjoyed the experience of having their fortunes told by an expert, for Miss Rockwell has an uncanny knack of revealing the past and divining the future. The card players were delighted to find that each table produced a prize winner, since the one scoring high in each group, received a gift. These varied from dainty handkerchiefs to address books and tricky little flower clusters for coat lapel or neckpiece.

While the players were still examining the prizes, the hostess group made the tables attractive for serving pumpkin pie with whipped cream and coffee. Each table was centered with a witch's caldron filled with orange and black candies.

A merry after-supper interval came when a pretty grass basket of home-made candy was auctioned off in clever manner by Miss Gallagher. Each bidder paid only the amount she raised the last preceding price, and the basket brought several dollars to the committee to help defray expenses. Miss Pearl Nicholson was the lucky one making the bid just as the three minutes were up, and with true sportsmanship, shared the candy with everyone present.

The committee members were highly complimented by their club sisters for their efforts which made the party such a success. Among the features of the evening was the passing of an ornamental card for guest signatures. While the list of those present is not quite complete, those signing were Lula B. Finley, Olive Peeler, Teresa G. McDonough, Gall Finley, Virginia Craig, Lorraine French, Justine Whitney, Clara B. Cooke, B. Pearl Nicholson, Lee Patton, Minnie Mayhill, Ruth Dale Ellis, Freda Moesser Barger, Lula B. Ott, Alice V. Wasser, Vanche Etelle Plumb, Mary N. Hilyard, Dr. Mary Wright, Lee Walker, Mabel Wiseman, Hazel Northcross, Helen Kubitz, Louise Kaiser, Helen Jeffery, Eleanor Young Elliott, Elaine Wharton, Mabel E. McFadden, Mabel Rockwell, Marcia J. Babbitt, Effie Douglass, Willa Larson, Harriet Whidden, Lena Thomas, Nancy Elder, Mabel Larrick, Helen Gallagher and Cecyl H. Drake.

Over a Million Last Saturday!

We don't mean that many dollars and cents flowed into our tills, but that on last Saturday the big Toledo scale in our entrance lobby showed that over one million persons have availed themselves of Hill & Carden's free weight service since we installed this scale just two and one-half years ago.

A great many men and boys have taken advantage of the merchandising service offered by this store in clothing and furnishings during the same period, and we have made them feel like a "million," too.

Last night, members of the local order of Odd Fellows attended the degree contest between Fullerton and Huntington Beach lodges, held at Fullerton. For some time, other lodges in the county have been eliminated and Fullerton, the winner in last night's contest, was the recipient of the county banner. Judges were from Los Angeles.

Last night, at 6:30 o'clock, a pot luck supper was served to Canton branch, I. O. O. F., at the hall. Following the dinner, a regular business meeting was held.

On Thursday night, October 28, at 7:30 o'clock, members of Orange lodge will be guests of the Santa Ana lodge and will put on the first degree. Refreshments will be served.

CAMP, AUXILIARY ENTERTAIN GUESTS

A pot luck dinner was held Tuesday evening by members of Calumet camp, United Spanish War veterans, and auxiliary, at which were present 75 visitors from other Southern California camps. Talks were made by Department Senior Vice Commander Charles E. Dixon, Department Inspector A. C. Munson and Department Patriotic Instructor E. R. Green. Green outlined plans for an oratorical contest, to be under the sponsorship of the United Spanish War Veterans, among the schools in Southern California. Prizes will be awarded to winners.

It was announced that the camp and auxiliary members would visit the soldiers' home at Sawtelle, on Sunday, October 31. Each one who goes is requested to take an apple pie. The pies will be distributed among the different wards.

The eighteenth degree will be conferred Friday, October 29.

H. B. Wells Produce Rich Grade of Gas

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 28.—Wells completed in the new city field at Huntington Beach are producing one of the richest grades of wet gas to be found in the entire state of California, according to chemical analyses. In many wells the content of casing-head gasoline runs higher than three gallons per 1000 cubic feet, and the average is between two and three gallons.

This high quality makes the wet-gas production of Huntington Beach wells an important feature, in spite of the fact that the average total gas output is not high. Gas production of between 2,000,000 and 3,000,000 cubic feet per well is an unusually high figure for Huntington Beach, the average not being more than 1,500,000 cubic feet.

MEASURE EXPLAINED AT INN CONFERENCE

Citizens Indorse Proposition And Issue Statement to Orange County People

Following addresses, in which the provisions of amendment No. 10, to be voted upon next Tuesday, were explained, a conference of citizens, held at St. Ann's Inn last night, passed a resolution of endorsement of No. 10.

The conference was called by the Citizens' committee, organized in Southern California, for the purpose of making a campaign for No. 10. At the head of the movement in this county are Mrs. George Andrews, formerly Miss Isabel Anderson, and at one time a teacher in Santa Ana high school, and Attorney Fred Forgy, of Santa Ana. As graduates of the University of California, they are especially interested in securing the passage of No. 10. They have brought to the support of the amendment not only alumni of other California educational institutions beside their own, but also men and women who are giving their support merely for the reason that they believe the measure should pass as a progressive step by this state and a necessary step in order to keep the state university, including the Southern Branch, in a position to care for its students.

The first speaker last night was Superior Judge E. J. Marks, a graduate of the University of California. Judge Marks described crowded conditions at the university, and outlined the provisions of the measure, which provides money, not only for the university at Berkeley, but for new buildings at Westwood and for new state buildings in Sacramento and Los Angeles.

Stewart Dunlap, of Los Angeles, formerly of Fullerton, went further into the condition on the campus at Berkeley, showing that many classes have from 200 to 250 students enrolled. Old firetraps have to be used.

Other speakers who gave reasons for supporting the measure included C. D. Swanner, graduate of U. S. C.; F. L. McFadden, of Anaheim, and G. K. Scovel, of Santa Ana, graduates of Stanford, and George Gobar, of Fullerton, U. C. alumnus.

As a result of the meeting, a statement was issued today to the voters of Orange county urging support for No. 10. Names appearing upon this statement include E. J. Marks, C. D. Swanner, T. L. McFadden, G. K. Scovel, A. J. Crookshank, W. O. Hart, of Orange; Otto Jacobs, C. S. Crookshank, P. H. Matner, of Fullerton; Mr. F. C. Rowland, Dr. John Ball, T. E. Stephenson, W. C. Jerome, Milburn Harvey, A. R. Benson, of Orange; George Gobar, F. C. Rowland, Harry Hanson, D. K. Hammond, Clyde Downing, George Raymer, Ralph Fuller, Franklin West, Superior Judge Homer G. Ames, Fred Forgy.

Margaret, Mary and Frances Foster, Santa Ana girls, who have been giving Orange county good publicity by their program numbers over radio station, KMTR, Hollywood, will be on the air tonight, it was announced here today by their father, Albert Foster, 808 Fairview avenue. The trio participates in a program there once a month. They are scheduled to appear in Yost's Broadway theater October 27 and 28 and will appear later in the West Coast Walker theater. The girls play the ukulele, piano and violin.

TAKE HIGHWAYS FROM POLITICS, URGES SPEAKER

Discussing Amendments Nos. 4 and 8 at the meeting of the Orange County Automobile Trades association yesterday, A. H. Vernon, of the legal department of the Auto Club of Southern California, declared that approval of No. 8 by voters, on November 2, would remove from politics the state highway system of California.

Asserting that in the past the highway funds have formed a "political football," to be kicked about by politicians of the state in putting road improvement, the attorney said that legal designation of the highways of the state and an appropriation by the state legislature of $5,000,000 annually would place the highway commission in position to proceed with a definite program of new construction each year, without fear of politicians stepping in and changing the program of highways to be improved.

Pointing out that motorists already are carrying a heavy burden by the many methods of taxing their equipment, Vernon declared that it was manifestly unfair to ask them to assume a still greater burden by imposing an additional tax of one cent on the gallon of gasoline to create a fund for construction of new highways.

He expressed the opinion that property should bear a portion of the expense of building and maintaining highways. Amendment No. 8, he said, would provide for new construction work from state tax funds.

DENVER VISITORS LIKE SOUTHLAND

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Forcey, parents of L. M. Forcey, of the collection department of the First National bank, are visiting here.

They are accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Moore, Mrs. Moore being a sister of the Santa Ana banker. The visitors are from Denver, where Mr. Moore holds the position of district passenger agent with the Pennsylvania railroad.

Coming to the Southland a few days ago, the Denver party already has rented a residence in Hollywood and is touring Southern California. The visitors plan to acquire a permanent residence in the vicinity of Los Angeles.

Immediately following his arrival in Santa Ana, Moore purchased a large sedan, with which to tour the Southland.

IMPORTANCE OF CREDIT IS TOLD BY L. A. EXPERT*ENORMOUS LOSSES RESULTING FROM BAD RISKS REVEALED IN TALK TO BUSINESS MEN

With 85 per cent of all sales for 1925 made on credit and with indications pointing toward a still larger percentage, there never was a time when as much thought and effort were given to the problem of credit handling by retail merchants as is the case today, according to Dudley Chandler, well known Los Angeles credit expert, who yesterday noon addressed the Business Men's association at its regular luncheon meeting at St. Ann's Inn. Chandler is manager-treasurer of the Building Material Dealers' Credit association, of Los Angeles.

In introducing his subject, "Investigate Before You Invest," viewing the granting of credit as an investment on the part of the seller, the speaker called attention to the enormous losses sustained by merchants by taking bad risks, or by allowing themselves to be nipped in a monetarily way through fraudulent bankrupts and similar practices.

QUOTES FROM STATISTICS

Illustrating the extent to which credit business has been built up in the United States, he quoted from statistics bearing on the sale of phonographs, automobiles, washing machines, vacuum cleaners, furniture, pianos, jewelry and radio sets. The greater volume of business in these lines is on credit, Chandler explained.

By detailed presentation of the subject, the credit man took his listeners through the various stages of credit information as collected, filed and distributed by credit bureaus. Incidentally, it was brought out, every applicant for credit is put through a kind of financial third degree, in the course of which his antecedents and present activities are investigated with all the thoroughness of a police identification bureau. In every well regulated bureau this is done through the change of "ledger experience," supplemented by confidential data obtained from other bureaus.

QUALIFICATIONS NECESSARY

Using the six letters of the word "credit" as an index to his presentation, Chandler said that to be considered a good credit risk, an applicant should possess the following qualifications:

"C" for character, supplemented by capacity and capital; "R" for resources; "E" for experience; "D" for diligence; "I" for intelligence, and "T" for tenacity.

He went on to explain the various qualifications in the order given.

Character, he declared, was the most important of all.

Loans running into hundreds of thousands of dollars have been granted on no other security than personal confidence, founded on the character and reputation of the creditor.

WEST COAST-WALKER

Melodrama that dashes headlong in a giddy pace through a whirlwind of intrigue. That's "My Official Wife," the picture which closes tonight at the West Coast-Walker. It is a story of czarist Russia and old Vienna, with a countess, who is betrayed, and who works her vengeance when she has an opportunity to pose as the official wife of a grand duke's son in order to get into Russia, from which she has been exiled.

Irene Rich is the countess—more alluring beautiful, more emotionally thrilling, than ever before. And the fascinating strength of Conway Tearle's acting has seldom been displayed to better advantage than as the countess's betrayer. These two head a cast that registers melodramatic perfection.

The Fanchon and Marco presentation, "Bluebeard's 8th Wife," is most amusing and pleasing of any of their productions seen here in several months. Headed by Renie Riano, Frank Stever and a cast of twenty, and ably supported by Way Watts and his band, there is not a slow moment in the entire offering.

Many will remember Renie Riano when she appeared here recently in Fanchon and Marco's "Gilded Kisses Idea." She is even funnier in this act than in the former, having a whole new stock of dances and sayings that literally stop the show.

Frank Stever is new with Fanchon and Marco. With his pleasing baritone voice and charming personality, we venture to prophesy that he will be featured in many more presentations by them.

Outstanding in their performance are Jack Melford and Lorraine Delara in a sensational adagio-waltz. It is of interest to note that both members of this clever duo are college graduates, Melford having completed four years at the University of Virginia, while Miss Delara finished at Vassar. It might seem that they have strayed somewhat off their original course, but after considering the success so far attained by them, it is plain to see that they have chosen the right profession.

Charming Myra Kinch in an interpretive slave dance; Dorothy Fisher and Marian Dabney as Bluebeard's Wives, and ballet of Harem Beauties add oriental atmosphere to a beautiful act.

YOST BROADWAY THEATER
The trickiest, funniest, fastest football game ever played. That's what you'll see in the Richard Dix comedy, "The Quarterback," which is showing at the Yost Broadway.

Richard and his pal, David Butler, are working their way through Colton by means of a milk delivery route. To speed matters up, they utilize their football knowledge and send their bottles whizzing through the air. Then—when they actually get in the game—action starts and never stops till the final whistle blows.

"The Quarterback" opens with an 1899 prologue. The star quarterback of Colton college, Harry Beresford, has proposed to Mona Palma. She accepts with the proviso that he remain at school until Colton beats her ancient rival, State. Some twenty years later, he is still "one of the boys." Mona has died and his son now plays dad's old position.

Richard is infatuated with Esther Raiston, a State co-ed. Their romance flourishes until the day of

Read with much interest and made the subject of favorable comment in medical circles is an article by Dr. Charles E. Simon and Miss M. Dorothy Beck, which appeared in a recent issue of the American Journal of Hygiene, entitled "A Study of the Indol Tumor of Carrel in Reference to Gye's Hypothesis Regarding the Origin of Malignant Growths."

Dr. Simon is a national authority on cancer diseases, attached to the Johns Hopkins Medical School, Baltimore, Md. Miss Beck is well known in local medical and sorority circles. Before taking up post-graduate work at the Johns Hopkins Medical School, she was bacteriologist at the county health department laboratory.

Upon the recommendation of Drs. V. G. Presson and Harry Zaisler, she was granted a scholarship, which enabled her to take up post-graduate work. She now is employed by the state board of health at Berkeley. The paper prepared by Dr. Simon and Miss Beck contended that Dr. Gye, the famous London cancer specialist, had not proven his assertion that cancer is a germ disease and, therefore, contagious.

GOOD GASOLINE KNOWS NO SEASON

Not "New" Quality
Just Quality*

Every drop, every gallon
winter or summer, the finest that can be made

RICHFIELD
Worth Remembering!

THOUGH constant research and improvement have continually bettered the fuel which has won more official A.A.A. speedway victories and world's records than all other gasolines combined, Richfield has never advertised "new" quality.

As a matter of fact, Richfield perfected easy starting gasoline many years ago—the so-called "winter gasoline" now so widely advertised. Also, Richfield was first on the Pacific Coast to commercially introduce the new cracking process which will undoubtedly be adopted as rapidly as possible by every other gasoline refiner. This new process creates valuable hydrocarbons, producing a better balanced, more powerful and more volatile motor fuel than was heretofore possible although unsuccessfully attempted in some gasolines by the addition of various chemicals and "motor tonics."

Richfield is and always has been a pure, undocored gasoline! Our engineers long ago proved to their own satisfaction that with gasolines made entirely from Western naphthenic base crudes, the addition of dangerous chemicals or poisons was entirely unnecessary and in some cases, actually harmful. Even the most efficient of these chemicals as used in tetra-ethyl gasoline—tetraethyl lead, which because of its deadly poisonous nature has caused serious cases of lead poisoning—although effective in reducing the "knock" in gasolines made from Eastern crudes, is not only unnecessary but absolutely valueless in Richfield.

Richfield's continued improvement has been passed on to the public as a matter of course. The same high standard of manufacture and strict adherence to quality that have made Richfield the choice of the world's greatest drivers have at all times assured the motorist of the finest gasoline that could be made.

This year or next year, no matter what the season or where the place, you know Richfield is best! Compare it with any pure gasoline or any docored fuel you wish and you will find it excels in its perfectly balanced qualities of easier starting, speed, power and mileage!

When a Better Gasoline is available you will get it from the Richfield pump.

Tires Removed From 3 Autos Parked In Yard

Eight tires were stolen from three automobiles, parked in the yard of the home of D. W. Snell, Buena Park, last night, according to a report filed to-day at the sheriff's office.

Snell is the owner of three cars and he and a brother-in-law drove two of the machines into the yard at 1 a. m., today, parked the cars near the house and went to bed. The tires were removed some time after that hour.

All of the cars were parked within 25 feet of Snell's bedroom window, it was said. Officers Barnett and Adams investigated.

of being on the job, is another factor that should be considered in recommending credit, he said. Intelligence, the ability of applying ones self to changing conditions, and tenacity, a determination to overcome obstacles and financial reverses, are other factors in determining a man's credit status, the Los Angeles man concluded.

Included among those who attended the meeting was a delegation of the Retail Merchants' Credit Association, of Downey, headed by President Bert Friedman and Secretary Fred C. Collins.

BOOK CONTRACTS IN TEXAS PROBED

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 26.—The house investigating committee was expected to begin its inquiry today into contracts awarded by the state textbook commission. A number of men, including Frank Adrian, of Dallas, state manager for the American Book company, are here, supposedly as witnesses.

In questioning of witnesses in connection with the highway department investigation, further alleged attempts of bribery were disclosed yesterday.

All of the cars were parked within 25 feet of Snell's bedroom window, it was said. Officers Barnett and Adams investigated.

J. O. Lee Ferguson, brother of former Gov. James E. Ferguson, wanted to arrange for a road contract for $2500 cash and 10 cents a square yard on work done, according to testimony of J. M. Jordan, of Plainview, a road contractor. Jordan said he did not enter into an agreement.

Jordan also told of a "percent" agreement he understood had been made between the Russell Grader company and State Senator T. H. McGregor, of Austin. He said he read in a newspaper that the Russell Grader company sold the highway department $200,000 worth of machinery.

TENNIS BOARD READY TO RANK BEST PLAYERS

Foreign Stars May Receive First Three Places But Richards' Post Problem

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK. Oct. 26.—With a constitution hardened by campaigns against player-writers, semi-amateurs and the pros of C. C. Pyle, the United States Lawn Tennis association is getting ready to expose its chin again for a sock from its critics.

A committee of the association is working with a mass of data and tournament records from which it hopes to get the best guess on the first ranking 10 players in the men's and women's classes.

The task was extremely difficult when only American players had to be considered because in recent years there was always the problem—"where will we put Vinnie Richards?"

As long as Bill Tilden and Bill Johnston were on their games, the selection of No. 1 and No. 2 places was automatic, but when Johnston started to slip and Richards came along the troubles began.

Further Complications

Those problems, however, were simple compared to the chaos that followed the sweep of the French players in the national championship when, for the first time in history, two foreigners played in the final round at Forest Hills.

The surprising relapse of Tilden offered additional difficulties and the abandonment of the amateur ranks by Richards added further complications.

The selection committee faces almost the necessity of giving the first three places to Rene La Coste, Jean Borotra and Henri Cochet, the star Frenchmen, and of placing Richards ahead of Tilden.

May Reprimand Richards

The committee, it is understood, would like to reprimand Richards officially for succumbing to the temptation of C. C. Pyle's pocketbook, but it hardly can be done, as Richards did not turn professional until the amateur season had been finished.

The ranking of the women players offers problems almost as difficult. The association doesn't know exactly how to handle the Helen Wills case. The former champion played so little during the 1926 season that she cannot be given a high ranking and rather than place her far down on the list, the committee may not consider her at all.

With Miss Suzanne Lenglen out of the amateur class, the selection of the first American player will be tantamount to naming a new world's champion.

NAME 'DONIE' BUSH TO MANAGE PIRATES

PITTSBURGH. Pa., Oct. 26.—"Donie" Bush, pilot of the Indianapolis club of the American association for the last three years, has succeeded Bill McKechnie as manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The contract by which the minor league manager and former big league shortstop comes to Pittsburgh is for one year's duration, Sam Drayfuss, treasurer of the club, said.

Bush has managed a big league team before. In 1923 he took over the Senators but although the club finished in fourth place, "Bucky" Harris supplanted him the next year.

PORTLAND DUCKS MAY TRAIN HERE NEXT SPRING; JOHNSON THINKS FAIR SITE IS O. K.

Chances are good for the Santa Ana junior chamber of commerce to secure a Pacific Coast league team to train next spring at the Orange county fair grounds. That was the result today of the meeting held last night of the booster organization at which Ernie Johnson, manager of the Portland Beavers; "Gavvy" Cravath, former major league home run king, and Hal Forrest, Laguna Beach newspaperman, were special guests.

BILLY EVANS Says

LAZZERI'S VALUE

Tony Lazzeri of the New York Americans probably was the most valuable first-year player in either league last season.

Lazzeri, by his general all-round play, did as much for the Yankees as did Ruth with his batting or Pennock with his pitching.

For five months of the 1926 season Lazzeri went at full speed and packed a real punch at the bat. The batting power was more or less lacking during the final month of play as well as during the world series.

There was a reason—Tony had gone stale at the finish.

SEVERE STRAIN

When he joined the Yanks he weighed 175 pounds. Near the close of the season I saw him step on the scales and the beam showed 153, a loss of 22 pounds.

While Lazzeri was taking the same healthy cut at the finish he did at the start of the season, the power behind the swing was lacking.

Muddy Ruel, star catcher of the Washington club, had a somewhat similar experience in 1924 when he caught practically every game and went from 156 to 136, a drop of 20 pounds.

It will be recalled that until the final game of the world series with the Giants that season, Ruel failed to make a hit. However, in the game that decided the title he contributed two very timely swats.

There was no power back of his swing, due to loss of weight. Lazzeri, on a pennant-winner his first year, suffered a severe mental as well as physical strain.

IMPORTANT JOB

There is no more important position on the ball field than that of shortstop.

If you have your doubts, just harken back to the last two world series. The American league lost both because of erratic play at short. The National league emerged the victor because of superior work at that position.

Roger Peckinpaugh, one of the greatest shortstops that ever played the game, was the goat in 1925.

Peck's failure was not due to lack of ability or nervousness but simply because he happened to get into a slump at a very inopportune time, the world series.

This year Mark Koenig of the Yankees played the role of villain as far as the American league was concerned.

A mere youngster, in his first season and lacking experience, the strain caused Koenig to play erratically at times and when he erred, it usually was costly.

On the other hand, Glenn Wright of Pittsburgh played brilliantly last season, while Tom Myrenow of the Cardinals performed in a like manner this year.

The difference in play at shortstop in the last two series has been the margin between victory and defeat.

Judge Landis Is Visitor In L. A.

LOS ANGELES. Oct. 26.—Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, high commissioner of baseball is in Los Angeles for a week of rest. He arrived here yesterday and immediately departed for the golf links where he played a foursome with Bill Lane, president of the Hollywood club, and Joe Patrick, president, and Oscar Reichow, business manager, of the Angels.

Fencing Class At Fullerton Is To Display Skill

By HELEN QUINN

FULLERTON UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Oct. 26.—Every Wednesday at 2:30 o'clock there is a meeting of the fencing club. The girls, under Miss Logan and Ruth Nonamaker, are working hard to form a team of six girls which will be ready to give demonstration work. One special event that they are looking forward to is a meet to be held on the high school lawn the day of Thanksgiving.

A girl is automatically dropped from this club after one absence, providing she does not give a satisfactory excuse. Those wishing extra practice should see Miss Logan or Ruth Nonamaker.

ONE ACT PLAYS TO BE GIVEN AT G. G. SCHOOL

By HILDA MARK

GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Oct. 26.—Two very ardent lovers in one of the plays being produced by the dramatics classes, are "progressing" very rapidly. When informed by the teacher, Mrs. Fringle, that they would have to work very hard, they made the reply that they wouldn't have to work very hard on their part.

Mrs. Fringle says that she has a very wonderful class in dramatics this year and they are all doing splendid work.

They are now working on one-act plays. "The Trysting Place," is to be given at the "Revellesques," October 29. Those taking part in this play are Mary Dolf, Kenneth Harris, Anna Reid, Rosemary Thompson, Marvin Ryan, Robert Prior and Donald Schurr.

The "Obstinate Family," is to be given in a pay assembly December 10, for the benefit of the annual. The characters, who were well chosen, for this play are: Donald Schurr, Clarice Campbell, Ruth Bumgardner, Eleanor Shell, George and Mary Sanders.

The students in the staff play are Robert Prior, Marvin Ryan, Elmer Ward, Robert Stroud, George Dolf, Donald Arrowsmith, Kenneth Harris, Clark Hayhurst, Mabel Jones, Helen Knox, Clarice Campbell and Lucille Shaeckford.

Another little play which some of the students are practicing on is "No Man Wanted." The characters in this play are Eunice Bragg, Mae Marsh, Mabel Jones.

SWIMMING TEAMS IN CLASS MEETS

By HELEN QUINN

FULLERTON UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Oct. 26.—Evelyn Harvey, the swimming manager, has announced that the interclass meets will be held this week. The girls have turned out fairly well for swimming and probably all the girls on the sophomore, junior and senior teams will make the teams because there will be just enough girls for a team.

The first act to be featured is "Dumber than the Dumbest." Mr. Algernon Christopher Sap, the noted dumb one will perform. He is known by experts to be the dumbest human in captivity. Experts have not been able to determine if his dumbness is hereditary, or if he acquired it in high school, as so many are said to do. "The Argonaut Four," assisted by "The Blackhead Unique" will render lovely music and "etc."

Booth Tarkington's famous masterpiece, "The Trysting Place" will be staged, featuring many stars, "starines" and "celestial bodies." The celestial bodies are very expensive and hard to find but a few have consented to perform.

"The Mashed Romancers" with their celebrated leader "Mr. Banana Greek" will enchant with numinous yellow numbers.

Fascinating and horrible will be the subnormal antics of "The Pygmies," just imported from Australia.

The last act, but surely not the least, will be the great opera "White Cross Drug Store.

In the last games Mary Dolf starred for the seniors; Ruth Andres for the juniors; Edith Chastain for sophomores and Mable Chastain for the freshies.

Sophomores and freshmen played a very interesting game, but the freshies were outclassed by the experienced sophomores, 50 to 31.

The seniors lost to the juniors in a very close game last Wednesday; the score was 43 to 31.

About 40 girls are trying to make the first team, as the members are to be chosen this week.

The outcome of the interclass games was as follows:

Vaudeville At Garden Grove Friday Evening

By ELIZABETH LEHNHARDT

GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Oct. 26.—Six wonderful acts will be revealed in "The Revellesques," to be given October 29, in the Garden Grove grammar school auditorium, under the auspices of the student body.

Build New Auto For Laguna Run

By CHARLES K. LEWIS

TUSTIN UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Oct. 26.—Due to the fact that the number of students from Laguna Beach increased greatly each year, the shop department is going to build a large Pierce-Arrow bus to take the Laguna run next year. According to present plans, the new bus will carry 53 passengers.

The school has bought an old Pierce-Arrow touring car. The shop department will remodel the chassis almost to the extent of taking out the entire engine and building a new chassis around it. The frame will be lengthened, new springs put on, a new rear axle installed, and large pneumatic tires put on the wheels.

Huntington Beach Senior Is Bride

FULLERTON UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Oct. 26.—Of much interest to Fullerton union high school students is the marriage of Zedna Escrich to Paul Severson of Huntington Beach, formerly of Fullerton union high school. Zedna was a senior in Fullerton union high school. The couple intends to move to Santa Ana where they will attend Santa Ana high school.

Phone Your Want Ad to 87 or 88—in less than 12 hours it will be in every home in Orange county.

An effort is being made at Orange Union high school this year, as the underlying object of the school program, to start the students on the road to success by emphasizing the importance of day by day application to their duties, it was explained by Principal F. A. Henderson.

If a student is to attain success, it is necessary that he be prompt and prepared to do the task at hand," Henderson stated.

Regularity is encouraged at the Orange high school by insisting that the students attend class daily and do their lessons thoroughly, according to the principal. The students of the school have shown a good school spirit this year in following the school program.

As at other county high schools, an honor system is in force at Orange. Clyde Feldner, the "busiest man" of the high school, is president of the student body. Besides holding that office, he is editor of the school paper, "The Reflector" and he is a star on Coach Stewart White's football team.

Every student of Orange high school is a member of some club. Twenty-five organizations taking up various interests from "scrubbing" to courtesy have been formed. It is the purpose of the clubs to furnish the students with the chance to engage in favorite hobbies besides interesting them in activities outside of scholarship, Principal Henderson declared.

The purpose of school is for the educational training offered, Henderson believes.

French and German courses have been introduced into the curriculum of the high school this year at Orange. At present a music room is under construction adjoining the auditorium.

The enrollment at Orange has shown a 15 per cent increase this year. The student body now numbers 600 students. The prospect for one of the greatest years in the history of the school was seen by Principal Henderson.

HALLOWE'EN HAS PLACE IN HISTORY

BY LOUISE GRISSET

TUSTIN UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Oct. 26.—Hallowe'en has long been celebrated though much differently than it is now.

Two thousand years ago in Rome it was celebrated as an ancient Druidic autumn festival, which was in honor of Pomona, the goddess of fruit and gardens.

After the Roman conquest of Gaul and Britain, some Roman beliefs and ceremonies were added.

After the spread of Christianity, November 1 was made a day for honoring all of the saints and the eve, that is October 31, was called "Hallow'een" or "all Hallowe'en Even," meaning "Holy Eve" of All Saints.

In England it was an autumn festival also. In the celebration fires were lighted in honor of the sun god. Nuts and apples held a prominent place in the celebration and the date was called "Nut Crack Night."

Ireland called it "Virgil of Saman," lord of death, who was supposed to assemble, on this occasion wicked souls which had been condemned to inhabit the bodies of animals during the preceding year.

America's celebration, no doubt an outgrowth of these old customs, seems to be particularly parties and pranks in which the spooks are prominent.

Will you profit or lose by his friendship? Do you judge by ap-

SHALL WE HELP OR NOT?

"Absence makes the heart grow fonder," but is it a reason why we should incessantly be found among those not present? If the above familiar saying is true, some of us would be very much in love with our dear old institution. We should try to realize that one little absence, ours, is throwing a monkey-wrench into the office machinery. Must we go to the city today? Can't we wait until Saturday? Yes, our parents will sign excuses, but we ought not put the responsibility on their shoulders. It is not often true that attendance is impossible. The rule (if you've read your catalogue) reads, "sickness of the pupil or sickness in the pupil's family, or other causes which render the pupil's attendance impossible are only acceptable excuses for absence," or words to that effect. It is not only our duty to refrain from tardiness and absence, but it takes on an aspect of the conscience. We can be conscientious. If we think the matter through, we will be conscientious.

Let's look at the matter from the point of view of the office force. It is such unaccountable absences and petty "ditchings" that make the "red tape" in getting excused from one place to another—from class to class and from study to library. This "red tape" is a distasteful omen. We don't want people to think that we are not trustworthy. If we show that we deserve more freedom, we get it.

This article does not intend to imply or intimate that some absences are not unavoidable. It is only attempting to deal with the unnecessary. The only thing that can put a halt to these absences is our reasoning. If we understand the situation we can be more conscientious. It means more work for the office, added work and confusion for ourselves, and makeup work which seems bulky and unprofitable. Look at it that way. We lose, also. There is a more serious side for the school, too. For every four periods lost, the cost to the school is 66 2-3 cents. So you see, our absences are materially very unprofitable. Some one is losing dollars and cents and often without obvious necessity. Looking at the matter from every angle—we are destroying our own routine, wasting our own time, even damaging our own character. Even if we find room to justify our absences we are often prejudiced judges.

So think this matter over. Let's help, as individuals, to make the school machinery run smoothly. —By Robert Wilson, Anaheim Union High School.

POPULARITY DISSECTED

What is popularity? It is usually something fleeting, here today and gone tomorrow. At best, it is something uncertain; yet almost everyone desires it.

There are really two kinds of popularity; the kind that comes with a rush and often does not last, and the steady kind that develops slowly and lasts. The former is more exciting, but the latter is the more desirable in the end.

Often a person becomes popular "over night" because of his or her ability to dance a "catchy" step, play quarterback on a football team, or wear collegiate-looking clothes. Then, when the person's one or two accomplishments have worn themselves out, he or she is forgotten and someone else is taken up. So it goes with sudden popularity; it is lived in the present, forgotten in the past, and supplanted in the future.

Spurgeon

Spurgeon P.T.A.'s first meeting for the year was a great success, under the able leadership of Mrs. Robert Speed, president, according to J. A. Cranston, who congratulated its members on their attendance and interest.

Mr. Cranston gave a short talk on physical education and read from articles by Herbert Hoover along that line.

Mrs. E. C. Phillips also read a very interesting and instructive paper, which was followed by a delightful piano number by three tiny girls from Miss Maurice Hamill's department.

After singing the popular P.T.A. song, led by Mrs. Wolf, the meeting was dismissed for round table discussion. Next round table discussion will be on November 9.

Frances E. Willard P.T.A. held the first meeting of the school year Thursday, October 21, with Mrs. Heine presiding. More than 80 teachers and parents were present, and new officers were elected to fill those places left vacant by moving or resigning.

Now holding office are Mrs. Ora K. Heine, president; Mrs. Jerry Beals, secretary; Mrs. R. G. Tuthill, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Eva Elliott, treasurer; and Mrs. M. D. Haskell, parliamentarian.

The chairmen of the following committees were also appointed:

Music, Mrs. E. H. Granger; art, Miss Libby; philanthropy, Mrs. Ed Nee; reception, Mrs. William Pennock; membership, Dr. Estelle Workman; press, Mrs. W. C. Borah.

Miss Libby of the art department spoke in the interest of the traveling art exhibit of the Laguna Beach artists which is sponsored by the P.T.A. and which will be shown in the Santa Ana schools. Miss Esther Jean Davis of the music department spoke of the projected concert course, presenting such artists as Charles Wakefield Cadman, and others, which it is hoped will be given during the winter at a nominal fee for the children.

All members were urged to attend the all-day meeting of the city federation at Spurgeon Memorial church, October 29. A good program has been prepared and pot luck luncheon will be served. The meeting hour is from 10:30 a.m. until 3:30 o'clock.

After the business of the meeting was disposed of a very profitable program was given. Miss Grace Smiley's beginners algebra class gave a demonstration of modern methods of teaching. Mrs. Robert Horn read half a dozen poems and Mrs. Earl Morris gave a review of the book, "The Child: Its Nature and Its Needs."

At the close of the program, during a pleasant social hour refreshments were served by Mrs. L. M. Hamilton and Mrs. A. J. McFadden.

Lincoln school held its first P.T.A. meeting of the year Thursday night, October 21.

The meeting was called to order by the new president, Mrs. J. H. Bower. Community singing was lead by Mrs. Floyd Knight.

Miss Linda Paul, principal of the school, led in the flag salute. The secretary read the names of the new officers and department chairman as follows: president, Mrs. J. H. Bower; vice president, Mrs. Floyd Knight; secretary, Miss Doris Schenck; treasurer, Mrs. W. W. Hoy; historian, Mrs. Love; parliamentarian, Mrs. R. M. McKnight; art appreciation, Mrs. K. Perrin; emblem and magazine, Mrs. C. B. Morgan; ways and means, Mrs. Stanley Goode; membership, Mrs. C. T. Palmer; music, Mrs. L. J. Owens; philanthropy, Mrs. H. S. Vaughn; press, Mrs. J. C. Sexton; reception, Mrs. H. H. Dale.

A splendid report was given by each.

A song, "Emmy and Maggy," sung by Frances Nuckles and Josephine Stamm, was enjoyed by all. All took part in a Penny March which netted $27.65.

A talk on "Big Business or Parents and Teachers as Partners" by Mrs. Earl Morris, was the outstanding number on the program, and was very helpful to all.

At the close of the meeting Miss Paul, in capable manner, introduced her corps of teachers, and each teacher was presented with a lovely crepe paper cap, made by Mrs. Knight.

After a social time, during which punch and wafers were served by Mrs. Blauer and Mrs. Reynolds, the meeting adjourned to meet again the third Thursday afternoon in November.

Franklin

The Franklin P.T.A. met in the kindergarten room Tuesday, October 19, with a large crowd in attendance. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Heinley.

Business was transacted and then followed a short program, which consisted of a play by the sixth grade on fire prevention, and reading by Evelyn and Robert Harman; piano solo by Dorothy Heinley and a talk by Mrs. Morris on "The National Congress of P.T.A."

Julia Lathrop

The October program of the Julia Lathrop Parent-Teacher association proved one of the most interesting and entertaining of the many excellent ones given by this organization. It was father's night and the fathers furnished the talent.

Mrs. Hugh Gerrard, president, secured an early completion of the business matters to introduce Robert H. Siddoway who sang a number of songs in a very pleasing manner. Miss Audrey Dohner accompanied.

"The Third Eight" was the title of a lecture which followed. It dealt with the thrift of time, of health and of character and was clearly one of the most interesting and instructive addresses the organization has had the pleasure of hearing. It was given by Charles M. Best of the Excelsior Creamery. The exposition of the manner in which the great manufacturing industries now utilize former wasted elements in their enterprises to a point where the

Willard Welfare Club

On Wednesday of the past week, the regular student body assembly provided a most interesting program. With Miss Brokaw and Miss Alice Johnson directing them, the students presented several musical numbers, a reading illustrated by a living portrait that was beautifully worked out, and community singing. Miss Hazel Bemus gave a graphic description of the strange food she ate while in Hawaii last summer. Her descriptions of the experiences she had were most interesting. The assembly broke up with a great desire to hear more of these experiences.

Book Contest

The Lathrop branch library is working up a good deal of interest in a book contest which will be a part of the program for book week. Miss Calkins has enrolled a great many students in the contest and hopes that more will enter. Points will be given for books on various subjects, including travel, history and biography. At the end of the contest, those having the most points will receive prizes.

Working on a co-operative project. This plan enables each pupil to work out ideas of better co-operation in the home, schools, teams, clubs, church or places of employment. The class is organizing and forming a constitution through the combined efforts of all its members.

"Julius Caesar"

Miss Elizabeth Bruner's class in "Julius Caesar" held an interesting debate on the subject, "Resolved, that Antony loved Caesar better than Brutus loved Caesar." The students prepared briefs and worked out their arguments from the lines of the play. The negative side won the debate, but very good arguments were given on both sides of the question.

The English department is working on a revised book list for supplementary reading. An effort is made to reduce the promiscuous reading done by so many students of this age and to increase a taste for the worth while books without destroying the student's real joy in reading. This is often a very difficult task and is not always successful but with the use of a point system a great deal can be accomplished toward the goal of a high standard for reading in the junior high school.

The classes in general science under Miss Marion Deane are making an interesting collection of insects, reptiles, rodents and minerals. The pupils collect anything that is of interest to them and bring it to school where it is put on display and observed. Once a week one or two specimens that have been brought in during that week are carefully studied. This gives the pupils a clearer idea of the life and habits of the animal and insect world about them.

EDISON

As a culmination of a project involving English, art, manners and morals, and physical education under the direction of Miss Thelma Frerking, the boys and girls of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades of the Edison school entertained with a tea Friday afternoon, October 22, having as their guests the mothers of the school and the teachers. Miss Eunice Jones, principal, Mrs. Grace Ward, Miss Mildred Hillard, Miss Ethel Brazelle, Mrs. Nellie Hughes, and Miss Aurelia Koch.

The girls of the fifth and sixth grades acted as hostesses, conducting the guests to the Kindergarten room where the following program was enjoyed: Welcoming speech, Mary Dahm; song, "The Blacksmith"; boys of fourth, fifth and sixth grades; Highland fling folk dance, sixth grade girls; reading, "Harold's Presents," Cecil Starries; reading, "Who Loved Mother Best," Barbara Crawford; Swedish clap dance, girls of fourth and fifth grades; reading, "My Mother," Agnes Mackey; piano solo, Dorothy Gutzman; and vocal solo, "Pal of My Cradle Days," Joseph Cathrina.

A social hour followed the program and tea was served by the girls at daintily appointed tables arranged in the patio. The guests, numbering about forty, thoroughly enjoyed the afternoon, as was shown by the many expressions of appreciation tendered the young hostesses.

Following the lecture, Frank Lansdown entertained with a number of well interpreted songs.

H. G. Nelson, principal of the school, discussed some of the problems that confront the school administration, due to the lack of space available for the school activities.

No part of the program was better, however, than the refreshments which the organization served ere the evening drew to a close.

UNEARTH IRON AGE CITY IN SCOTLAND

LONDON, Oct. 26.—A party of American archaeologists has announced a plan for a digging expedition on Craiglockhart hill, Edinburgh, which is now used as a golf course, but rests on top of a primitive settlement, believed to date back to the iron age. German zepelin raids in Scotland during the World war are responsible for the discovery of the ancient town beneath the hill.

It was first chosen for anti-aircraft guns when Edinburgh began to defend itself against raids. The digging of the gunners laid bare a stone parapet, but the significance of the discovery was not then realized.

In 1918, an officer of the Royal Scottish, who is now one of the country's leading antiquarians, returned to Craiglockhart and his excavations revealed a row of dwellings buried for centuries under black loam.

Since then dozens of fragments of bones, broken pottery and other relics have been dug up.

4b Class Officers

The 4b class has elected the following officers to serve this semester: President, James Hall; vice-president, Reiko Kadowaki; secretary-treasurer, Florence Sturbaum; reporter, Alice Jacobson; girls' athletic manager, Mamie Sue Hill; boys' athletic manager, Fayette Blower; girls' representatives, Norma Slatton and Viola Stafford; boys' representative, Max Wilson.

School Clubs Organize

In the past the school clubs have played an interesting part of the school life at Frances Willard. Last week a list of clubs was submitted to the pupils to consider. The membership is not required but is an opportunity for improvement in one's hobby. The following clubs were organized: Boys' Chorus (admission by try-out) under the direction of Miss Davis; Fire Girls under the direction of Miss Childers; Candy and Pastry club with Miss Elliott leader; Debating club with Mr. Reed; Folk Dancing with Miss Franzén; Garden club with Miss Plumbe; Manual Training with Mr. Smith; model yacht with Mr. Horn; Willard "Y" club with Mr. McKee of the Y. M. C. A.

Several of these clubs have already met and elected officers which will be published later when they all have organized and planned their programs more completely.

The 5b class, under the direction of Miss Mueller, entertained at the regular student assembly last Friday with a varied program.

Assembly Program

The 5b class, under the direction of Miss Mueller, entertained at the regular student assembly last Friday with a varied program.

The opening number which was the famous kindergarten orchestra from the John Muir school under the direction of Miss Linda Mueller, put on a royal entertainment of orchestral numbers and songs. The members of this celebrated band were dressed in uniforms of blue and white.

Florence Pollock, sang a delightful solo. She was accompanied by her mother, Madeline Morilla. Next played a piano solo. An entertaining dialogue, "The Baby Sister Blues" by Anne Hilton and Gleneve Hathaway was highly enjoyed. Bill Borah played a number of selections on his banjo and was encored several times.

The girls' chorus, accompanied by Evelyn Hunton, sang two songs. The chorus is composed of Florence Pollock, Zelmy Smith, Evelyn Walbridge, Luella Koons, Ora Engle, Laura Cummings, Lucille Fugatt. A humorous reading entitled "The Goblins," was well given by Joe Oleda. The last number on the program was a vocal duet by Asa Herren and Harold Harvey, accompanied by Evelyn Hunton.

An unusual amount of class talent was demonstrated in this program, all of which was highly appreciated by the student body.

Flower Committee

The girls on the flower committee, responsible for providing flowers for the weekly assembly programs deserve considerable credit for their conscientious work. Last Friday there was an abundance of flowers which were very artistically arranged.

Those on the flower committee are: Margaret Smith, Anna May Johnston, Lillian Hurwitz, Ann Hilton, Nobuko Kadowaki.

Health Rule Adopted

Frances Willard has had such success in the past by using ten health rules that students have adopted the same plan again this year to be checked carefully every day for one month. The rules are as follows:

I was in bed nine hours or more at regular time with windows open.

I brushed my teeth at least twice.

I ate three regular meals (whole-some breakfast).

I ate at least two vegetables, including one green leaf.

THE ROMANCE OF AMERICA: Aaron Burr

Sketches by Redner
Synopsis by Braucher

With the death of his daughter Burr's decline became rapid. He hung out a sign in New York and resumed the practice of law. Many of his old friends gave him business. But the bad reputation he had acquired through his duel and designs on Mexico soon began to tell, and his practice dwindled.

Former acquaintances snubbed him, but his courage and serene disposition discounted most of the slights aimed at him.

In his old age Burr married a rich widow named Jumel, overcoming her resistance and winning her almost by sheer force.

The married life of the pair was happy for but a short time. Differences arose between them about the way Burr was using his wife's money, and they separated. Always an ardent speculator, Burr never had acquired a reputation for thrift, and had frittered away most of the earnings of his lifetime. (Continued)

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Tinymites all overslept, but Mister Squirrel a close watch kept, and as the sun rose o'er the hills, he tickled Scouty's toes. Right quick he jumped, and, as he dressed, he shouted loud to all the rest. "Come on, you sleepy Tinymites! You're lazy, goodness knows!"

The little mites ran here and there. Their clothes had been thrown everywhere. They might have dressed real quickly, but it took them rather long. "You see," said Scouty, "Carelessness is what's to blame for this, I guess. You never hang your clothes up, although you know it's wrong."

However, in an hour or so, the band was dressed and set to go. So out they rushed to find the cart they'd made the day before. They found it beneath the trees and hitched their squirrel up with ease. Then Clowny did a funny thing that made the others roar.

He hopped into the little cart. A nail ripped Clowny's waist apart.

(The whole band is upset in the next story.)

Crow Blackbird, purple grackle, bronzed grackle—the names it bears in different parts of the country. But wherever found, and under whatever name, he is much the same. Noisy, inclined to be overbearing, he has, during the last 25 or 30 years, vastly increased in numbers in many places, and now occupies some of our parks and suburbs where he used to be unknown.

Watch him on some warm spring day as he shows off before his mate. He will be sitting sedately enough on a branch, when all at once he will swell to twice his normal size by the process of puffing out his feathers, drop his wings, open his beak, and, as you listen for some note in keeping with all this elaborate preparation, he will emit a ridiculous

Autumn is the heyday time when the flocks gather for the southward migration. What a lark the birds have! Such flocks must have quantities of food, and ordinary methods of foraging will not suffice. Through the country they fly in great bands, seeking the oaks which have borne heavy crops of nuts.

When a corn field is raided the destruction is so tremendous that organized efforts of reprisal must be made if the precious crop is not to be destroyed. Then they pass on to the rice still farther south and continue their ravages.

INTERRUPTED

I think, little lady of four,
As you beg me to romp on the floor,
But Caesar fought year after year
Letting nothing with him interfere.
For he never knew
What would Caesar have done
With a war just begun,
With a charmer like you at his door?
Just to spare you a frown or a tear
Hed given you his shield and his spear,
Hed have sent out this word:
"There'll be no war today!
I intended to fight, but my babe wants me to play!"
Hed never have conquered the Gaul
Had he been at your beck and your call,
Had you been his child
Hed have turned meek and mild
As your little feet raced down the hall;
And once you got into his room,
Which they say he kept shrouded in gloom,
You'd have driven away all his will to be great,
Hed have played as I play, saying:
"Let the war wait."

ANSWERED LETTERS

Miss Gloria R.—You did not state your age, but I do not think you could be much overweight at 100 pounds even though you are only four feet, eleven inches, tall. If you feel that the upper parts of your arms are too stout, massage them with a kneading motion until you feel that you have exercised the muscles vigorously. Do this every day, or try to reduce the arms through exercise in the best way, and that is through sports.

Tennis, or any other game that requires arm motion will do all that you wish for them. A depilatory acts as a shave, so you can judge for yourself if that is the way you would care to keep down this superfluous hair. Many women use tweezers on all conspicuous hairs and let the rest alone.

Golden Locks.—The formula for the hair tonic you mention has nothing whatever in it that could effect your health. This is true even if you have kidney trouble.

Mrs. H.—I will be very glad to send you the formula for the tonic, and also one for the complexion, if you forward an addressed, stamped envelope for the mailing.

Eva S.—Even though your legs are not straight, you can wear your skirts short enough to keep to a fashionable length, and still not be conspicuous because of the defect. You will have to compromise with the style, and possibly wear a length that comes far enough below the knee to hide the curve below it. This will break up the bow so it does not attract attention.

J. D.—Miss B. L.—Paraffin has no fattening qualities, so you would do nothing by using it massage your legs. Use cocoa butter or olive oil for this.

M. Y.—A bald spot coming suddenly as yours is too serious a matter for you to try experiments yourself on your scalp. Consult a specialist and have the right kind of treatment as soon as possible.

A chiropodist will fit you with arch supports so you will have complete relief from that trouble.

You should not try pads for this purpose as you may throw the delicate bones of the foot more out of place than they are even now.

L. B. S.—You use the hair tonic as directed two or three times a week, and if you intend to shampoo on one of the days, give the tonic treatment after you have dried your hair. I do not think the tendency to grey hair is hereditary at all.

Tomorrow—Hands and Gloves

WHEN BOILING MEATS
If you are boiling or stewing meat, or fish, always plunge first into boiling water to seal the tissues, then reduce the heat for cooking.

PATCHING PAPER
Save all pieces of wall paper for patches in case of accident. Often a new piece can be superimposed over a stained or disfigured section and be unnoticed.

STOCK IS HANDY
The meat from which you extract the juice to make soup may be used very nicely for croquettes or meat balls if you season it well and combine it with chopped vegetables or rice.

CLEANING MIRRORS
Clean a fine mirror with alcohol but do not let it run under the frame. Dust a mirror frequently.

TAKES 'EM OFF
Wet salt will remove those dark stains on silver that results from eggs.

Panels of wall paper on a plaster wall give the effect of oil paintings, as illustrated in this interior by W. and J. Sloane.

crease the height of the walls.
If you intend to paper your walls, you have a still wider choice of delightful backgrounds. The papers now being made show a marked improvement in design and color over those of a few years ago.

A few main principles must be kept in mind when you select any wall paper. First, vertical stripes give height to the walls. Second, large, bold patterns decrease the size of the room and are liable to grow monotonous sooner than the quieter patterns.

Most popular, and most practical for the English or early American house are the chintz papers, designed after chintz patterns.

Like Oil Paintings
The use of paper panels against a plaster wall is illustrated in the room pictured. They give almost the effect of oil paintings, without approaching the latter in costliness.

These panels are often varnished and shellacked when a soft, antique effect is desired, but many persons prefer them in their natural finish.

Strikingly beautiful effects may be achieved with the scenic papers, which are purchased in sets, to form a complete panorama when placed on the wall.

These scenic papers are placed above a chair rail, so that the eye is on a level with their scenes, and they are protected from the rubbing of chair backs.

Tapestries Costly
Chinese, French and early American designs are most favored in the scenic papers. There are also elaborate classic motifs, like that of Cupid and Psyche, for spacious formal rooms.

Tapestries and damasks are effective wall coverings for elaborate houses. But their costliness and the problems of sanitation they present prohibit them for general use.

They are useful chiefly for large Georgian or French apartments.

When you have prepared your walls as backgrounds for your rooms, you have laid the foundations for a consistent scheme of decoration.

How calm, how beautiful comes on

And clouds, beneath the glancing ray,
Melt off, and leave the land and sea
Sleeping in bright tranquility.—
When the blue waters rise and fall,
In sleepy sunshine mantling all;
And ev'n that swell the tempest leaves,
Is like the full and silent heaves
Of lovers' hearts, when newly blest,
Too newly to be quite at rest!

HEALTHFUL PLACE FOR BABIES

One of the most significant news articles appearing in The Register for some time was one published last Friday, showing that the infant mortality rate in Santa Ana for 1925 was below the normal rate of California cities and well below the average rate for American cities in general. With the Mexican death rate high, Santa Ana makes an exceptionally fine showing by holding an average down to 60.

We were particularly interested in the news report for the reason that it was only two or three weeks ago that statistics were quoted at public meetings in Santa Ana declaring our infant mortality rate to be the highest in the state. We were immediately skeptical. Frankly, we didn't believe it. We had seen statistics before that looked somewhat different when analyzed. So The Register started an investigation.

The first step was to go to the records and make our own figures. It had developed that the statistics had been quoted in the public meetings here were entirely for the year 1924. Our own checking went through that year, and on down through 1925, up to and including the first six months of 1926. An entirely different face was put upon the situation. While the figures for 1924 did show that we had a high rate in 1924, for anyone to say that Santa Ana "has" a high death rate is not fair to the city. The use of the word "had" could be justified. We had an unusual condition in 1924, one that we do not expect ever to arise again in Santa Ana. Our present and future health conditions, however, should not be measured by that condition.

Santa Ana is a healthful community. Our climatic conditions are such that neither extreme heat nor extreme cold threatens the lives of babies. There is no better climate on earth for the care of babies and mothers than we have right here.

YES ON NOS. 13, 15, 21, 22 AND 24

In the series of editorials discussing the 28 measures to be voted upon next Tuesday, The Register up to today has presented nineteen. Tomorrow we will discuss the water and power act and also the measure permitting the reading of the Bible in schools. We will complete the series Thursday by again presenting our views concerning the two reapportionment measures.

Today we have five proposals before us—Nos. 13, 15, 21, 22 and 24. After a careful examination of these measures, The Register does not hesitate in advising that the vote be yes.

The purpose of No. 13 is to make the absent voter law worth while. At present it is almost useless. In Orange county, no more than one or two votes are cast at a general election by absent voters. The reason is that the law provides that the voter must be "regularly required to travel." No. 13 proposes to strike out the word "regularly." Then anyone who will be away from home at the time of election can arrange to get his vote. Under this proposal, too, war veterans in hospitals will be able to vote. The theory back of this change is to accommodate American voters in fitting their vote into their business arrangements. We shall vote yes.

In our opinion, No. 15 is a highly important measure. It was originally proposed by the legislative committee of the California State Teachers' association. The purpose is to classify school districts so that laws may be passed to meet the needs of individual school, high school and junior college districts. At present, a general law must be passed, and it is hard to pass one that will apply equally, for instance, to a high school district in San Juan Capistrano and in Los Angeles. Many laws have already been passed in an effort to meet these individual needs, and this measure will not only clarify future procedure, but will settle no small number of legal difficulties already existing. The principle of classifying counties has been used satisfactorily in this state for years, so that each county has its needs considered separately. It is proposed to extend this principle of classification to school districts, possibly classifying them in accordance with attendance. State School Superintendent Will C. Wood endorses the measure.

No. 21 is a proposal that, when a county or city holds an election at which more than one bond proposal is submitted, each proposal shall be carried or lost strictly upon whether it receives a two-thirds vote of all votes cast ON THAT MEASURE. At present, to carry, the bonds must have two-thirds of the votes cast on that measure, but not two-thirds of the number of voters who actually went to the polls that day. The spirit of the rule requiring two-thirds vote is to consider only votes cast on the one measure. No. 21 will make the law conform to the spirit. Our suggestion is to vote yes.

If No. 22 is passed, growing timber less than 40 years old will be given the same consideration in law now given to growing crops and fruit trees. Fruit trees are not taxed until they begin to bear. No. 22 proposes that growing timber shall not be taxed. The purpose of the act is to encourage reforestation of private lands. At present, no one can afford to plant cut-over areas because by the time the trees got large enough to sell, taxes would have amounted to more than the timber would bring. Our vote is to be yes.

No. 24 puts up two proposals in one. First, it is proposed that irrigation districts—there are but two, both at Costa Mesa, in this county—may acquire and hold stock of corporations owning water and water rights. There is no reason why this should not be done and good reasons why it should.

Second is a provision that the treasurer of any city or county may make temporary transfers from funds in his possession, pending the receipt of tax money. This is to meet obligations for maintenance purposes only. This will frequently save holding up warrants that everybody knows are to be paid just as soon as tax money comes in. The transfer is guaranteed by this act as a first lien on the tax money. The procedure as proposed seems to be amply safeguarded. Since both proposals are satisfactory, we shall vote yes.

In some cities pedestrians have a right to step into the street to hail a trolley car 200 feet away. But most of them have discretion enough not to do it.

Good Choice Is Made

Pasadena Star-News

An excellent choice—the naming of Charles Evans Hughes, by President Coolidge, as the United States member of the Permanent Court of International Justice. Mr. Hughes succeeds the late Judge George Gray, of Delaware.

By profound study and by varied experience Mr. Hughes is exceptionally well qualified to fill this position. He is an international lawyer of renown, having had brilliant experience in important matters. Mr. Hughes is a zealous advocate of the settlement of international disputes by arbitration. He long urged that the United States enter the World Court.

Mr. Hughes has given distinguished and varied service. First coming into national notice as courageous exposé and prosecutor of fraud and corruption in the management of insurance companies in New York, Mr. Hughes became Governor of the Empire State. Later, he became associate justice of the United States Supreme Court. He resigned this position to become Republican candidate for President in 1916, and narrowly missed election to the Presidency. He served as Secretary of State under President Harding, and remained some time in the cabinet of President Coolidge.

Mr. Hughes holds the respect of his countrymen. He carries courage and conscience into his public services, and his abilities are above the mediocre.

Attendance at Fairs

San Bernardino Sun

Reports of the fairs held in Fresno and in Pomona serve anew to set out the record established by the Orange show. A few weeks since we compared it with the attendance at the State Fair at Sacramento, the showing being to the effect that twice as many people saw the Orange Show last year as visited the State Fair at Sacramento last month, although the latter is heavily subsidized by the state.

Now we have the figures from the Fresno and the Pomona fairs, both of them highly spoken of and enthusiastically described by those who visited them. Yet the Fresno Republican gives the attendance at the Fresno show as "about 125,000," while the Pomona Bulletin gives the report more circumspectly, as 109,900. At the close of the Orange Show last February it was stated the record of those passing through the gates topped 250,000. Doubtless we have a much greater number of "repeaters" those who come again and again. The sale of family tickets encourages this, and the program is of a character to invite it. The musical program in particular brings people back perhaps many times. But an exposition which can boast 250,000 people through the turnstiles in the 10 days must challenge attention.

Saving Calaveras Grove

Fresno Republican

Citizens of Stockton and others interested in the saving of the Calaveras Big Trees are going right ahead with plans to do the saving.

They have incorporated an association, to raise funds, to buy out the private owners of the big tract of land.

The tract has a large number of sequoias, but the remarkable character of the area is due to the fine stand of sugar and yellow pine as well. The owners, in order to "get by," must sell or cut down the grove. They have to pay taxes on it. If they do not finance the grove in some way, they will lose it to others who will.

Into this critical situation public effort must intervene. Praise to the public spirited people who are intervening!

The immediate thing that all of us, as citizens can do to help in the movement to prevent the premature destruction of forest areas is to vote for Number 22 on the November ballot, which provides for "cropping" taxation system of California forests.

Editor of Journal of American Medical Association

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last of a series of five articles on healthful children.)

STRAINED EXPRESSION MEANS NASAL FLAW
A normal child breathes through his nose. When such breathing is obstructed by growths within the nose, or by abnormal conformation, by adenoids, or by large tonsils, the child develops a pinched and harassed expression.

If the obstruction is severe enough to produce distress, the child will have insufficient oxidation of its blood, and it is self-evident that its health must suffer. These conditions within the nose or throat should be corrected at the earliest opportunity.

The old-time physician when called to a patient would always look first at the tongue. "A clean, moist, red tongue," says Hugh Chaplin, "indicates that digestion is satisfactory."

There are diseases in which the tongue becomes coated, or develops peculiar markings. Sometimes it seems exceptionally dry, as in the presence of fever.

While the observation of the tongue is seldom sufficient for the complete diagnosis of disease, the modern physician still relies on its inspection for hints as to further observations.

The normal child likewise moves quickly and efficiently to accomplish important actions. It can attend to most of its daily activities without fatigue and can indulge in most childish sports with reasonable alertness.

As Dr. Chaplin emphasizes particularly, however, between the ages of 12 and 14, the child undergoes changes associated with the establishment of its sexual characteristics. Its muscles become more powerful and its arms and legs grow more rapidly.

During this period, the child is likely to seem more awkward and to co-ordinate its movements with less efficiency than previously or afterward.

As was emphasized in the article on the mental health of the child, a healthful child is a happy one; it is alert, smiles frequently and is apparently contented.

Ill health is promptly associated with whining, quarreling and irritability. Frequently physical causes underlie what seems to be an extremely bad disposition.

Attempts at physical punishment of a child that is not physically fit merely serve to establish mental responses which may embarrass the entire future existence of the innocent victim of parental misunderstanding.

His Divided Attention

Measures on the Ballot

Under this heading, The Register presents information and arguments concerning various measures that are to be voted upon in the November elections. Views expressed here may or may not be the views of The Register.

MAKE TRUCKS PAY HIGHWAY TAX

In a public statement Paul F. Fratessa, attorney for the State Highway Commission, urges the adoption of Amendment No. 2 on the ballot, as the only immediate available means of requiring the freight trucks to pay their share for the upkeep of the state highways.

"The trucks are the heaviest users of the highways," said Fratessa. "The wear and tear from this traffic, particularly in the numerous cases of overloading solid tired vehicles, is most severe, and there have recently been a large number of arrests on overloading charges.

In spite of these facts, the truck lines have, by various means, avoided contributing their proper portion of the cost of highway maintenance and repair.

"The maximum weight tax for trucks in California is $40—one of the lowest rates charged in the whole United States. In addition to this the only direct state tax that the trucks are paying is the $3 flat license tax for all motor vehicles.

"Acts were passed by the 1922 and 1925 legislature providing for a 4 percent tax on the earnings of the truck lines. The truck operators have attacked these enactments in the courts and their constitutionality is now awaiting final decision before the United States Supreme Court.

"This litigation in which there may be no decision for a year or more, has been effective in permitting the truck operators to avoid payment of the taxes provided.

"It appears to have been consistently the policy of the truck lines to avoid their fair share of taxes.

"Amendment No. 2 provides a tax rate of 5 percent on the earnings of trucks, which will be required to go exclusively for highway maintenance and repair. It is for this reason particularly that I am in favor of this amendment. I opposed the similar amendment of two years ago for the reason that it did not require the funds derived to go to highway purposes.

"In addition to the 5 percent tax that will be required under the amendment, the trucks will still have to pay the state gasoline tax, and, by so much, will contribute further to the state and county highway funds.

"I believe that the present amendment is eminently fair and that the best interests of all highway users will be served by its adoption by the people on November 2."

DEFEND GASOLINE TAX

Riverside Enterprise—The Enterprise believes that proposition No. 4 on the November 2 ballot, generally known as "the tax tax increase," should be defeated. It believes further that proposition No. 8, the state highway measure, should be supported.

Southern California voters ought to be a unit in backing No. 8 and in fighting No. 4. If a vigorous campaign is not waged and unduly supported obtained the gas tax bill will be passed and the highway measure defeated. Northern California interests are determined that Southern California shall not obtain any larger allotment of road funds than at present is being received. The north will be united in opposing the new highway plan and a systematic, well-financed campaign is being conducted in Southern California to split the vote here.

The gas tax measure is deserving of being sent into oblivion because it does not assure the completion of the present highway system, as there is no allocation of funds to any particular road or class of roads, such as the transcontinental lines, county seat laterals, or main trunk highways.

There is no requirement in the measure that the money must be spent upon the present state highway system. This means that there will be more political roads added to the system, and the completion of the transcontinental

LET THEM REPLANT

San Francisco Chronicle: Owners of cutover timber lands cannot replant them and wait forty years for a crop if they have to pay taxes on the growing trees.

Proposition No. 22 on the ballot will exempt such growing forest trees from taxes until they are big enough to cut. This measure is not open to the ordinary objections to tax exemptions. It does not exempt the land from the taxes now being paid. It exempts from taxes only a growing crop of trees which otherwise would not be planted. The measure, therefore, encourages the creation of taxable wealth which otherwise would not exist.

The proposal has been critically examined by the state and federal forest services and by other organizations, all of which have given their approval. No jokers have been found in it.

You can safely vote for this measure, which promises to give a greater future to the timber interest of the state.

What Is a "Gentleman"

Katherine Fullerton Gerould in Harper's

We all have a different meaning for the word "gentleman." In the November Harper's magazine, the well known observer of American social values writes:

"There are those who mean by it, like Oliver Wendell Holmes, 'three generations of portraits in the family'; there are those who mean by it the habit of literate speech; others who mean having money in one's purse, or being able to wear evening clothes without looking like a waiter, or being sexually virtuous. The gentlemen who prefer blonder are a different category from the gentlemen who prefer grammar. In some groups it means willingness to put up a fight with your bare fists; in some it means having a pew in church. I once knew an eminent scientist who had a way of saying—not simply in the interests of humor—"a geologist, and, therefore, a gentleman." And so on, indefinitely. To find a common denominator for the myriad definitions would be well nigh impossible."

Worth While Verse

UP HILL

Does the road wind uphill all the way?

Yes, to the very end.

Will the day's journey take the whole long day?

From morn to night, my friend.

But is there for the night a resting-place?

A roof for when the slow dark hours begin.

May not the darkness hide it from my face?

You cannot miss that inn.

Shall I meet other wayfarers at night?

Those who have gone before.

Then must I knock, or call when just in sight?

They will not keep you standing at that door.

Shall I find comfort, travel-sore and weak?

Of labor you shall find the sun.
